Kramer Unanimous Choice for GOP Mayor

350 Rally At Parley On Monday

Keyser and Mino Other Nominees

Two men presently serving in elective offices and one in an appointive position were nominated Monday night to head the city Republican ticket in November.

At the unofficial city committee convention in the Ulster county court house on Wall street approximately 350 delegates from 13 wards and GOP party members heard the following slate arranged:

Candidate for mayor of the city—Bernhardt S. Kramer, who has been city clerk for 10 years an appointive post.

Alderman-at-large — William S. Keyser, alderman of the second ward for two years.

City judge—Attorney Raymond J. Mino, who has held the office for eight years.

Leaders Expect Victory

Nomination speeches extolled the virtues and capabilities of the chosen candidates and party leaders addressing the assembly predicted they could be elected through a concentrated drive, with all ward workers rallying to their support.

Former Senator Arthur H. Wicks, chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee, said, "I congratulate you on the men nominated. They are outstanding men, every one a credit to the party."

Asks for GOP Council

He urged that Republicans be elected to ward offices, and stressed that "Mayor Kramer will need a Common Council favorable to the projects he plans to carry out."

"We have a ticket we can be proud of," declared Attorney N. Le Van Haver, city chairman. "There's no reason that we can't have a Republican victory in the fall, if everybody works."

Mayor Frederick H. Stang, who said he declined to run for a third term to resume his law practice, noted that "Candidate Kramer can do the job, let's elect him."

Government His Life

In accepting the nomination, Mr. Kramer recalled that government has been his life's work. "I know the needs of a rapidly growing community and when the campaign begins I will present to the electorate a forward-looking program ensuring to the benefit of all."

Attorney Vincent G. Connelly, former GOP city chairman, in nominating Mr. Kramer, said, "He is a Republican who will perform the duties of the office of mayor independently and fearlessly, yet within the framework of the party, knowing full well that the best interests of all the people regardless of party will only result from a cooperative effort."

Man of Character

He referred to the candidate as a man of good character, with a

Ike Stands Fast on All Civil Rights Provisions

Washington, July 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower was pictured today as still in favor of all the "basic provisions" of the administration's Civil Rights Bill—including a section especially denounced by southern foes of the measure.

"I find no change in his position,"

Humphrey Urges Dramatic Move On Disarmament

Washington, July 16 (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) proposed today that President Eisenhower move "personally and dramatically" to force Russia "to face up to the necessity for disarmament."

If the Russians allow the current five-power negotiations at London to collapse, Humphrey declared, "the President should appeal over the heads of the Soviet leaders to the General Assembly of the United Nations."

Own Optimism Fading
Humphrey, chairman of the Senate Disarmament subcommittee, told an interviewer that even his own earlier "cautious optimism" that the Russians might soften their position in London is fading rapidly.

He spoke out after U. S. delegation to the conference with the President.

Knowland then added that Eisenhower "recognizes that the Senate may feel there are certain clarifications that will be necessary."

Knowland talked with reporters after he and other GOP congressional leaders held their regular Tuesday morning conference with Eisenhower.

Senate to Vote

The Senate was to vote later in the day on Knowland's motion to bring the House-approved Civil Rights Bill officially before it.

Knowland predicted that a motion will be approved "by a substantially heavy margin." He also forecast defeat for an expected motion by Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) to send the bill to the Senate Judiciary Committee for a seven-day review of its provisions.

Knowland said adoption of that Morse proposal would amount to killing the bill.

Fire on Section 3

Southern foes of the Civil Rights measure have concentrated their fire on Section 3 of the bill. They contend it would open the way for military enforcement of racial integration in the public schools.

Opponents also have contended that the bill goes much further than the President's stated objective of protecting the right to vote.

Knowland said the President still favors "all four parts" of the controversial measure.

Asked specifically whether Eisenhower favors enactment of Section 3, the senator replied that in his opinion "it would be fair to say that the administration would not have recommended the four parts" if the President "had not felt that all are highly desirable and part of the program."

Won't Listen Long

Knowland indicated that he does not intend to listen to any lengthy debate on the Morse proposal, which would have the effect of reversing to some extent

Expanded Labor Probe Is Aimed at Taft-Hartley Law

Washington, July 16 (AP)—The Senate Rackets Investigating Committee today broadened its probe to cover a wide variety of labor-management abuses.

The expanded agenda—including investigations of union and company political activities—seemed aimed at creating background for eventual amendment of the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Law.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) announced after a committee strategy session yesterday that the eight-man group had voted to study such matters as union picketing and boycotts as well as employer interference with union organizing.

The committee's new 11-point program appeared to mark a swing from investigations which so far have concentrated heavily although not exclusively on improper use of union funds.

It was indicated future hearings will continue most of the summer and remainder of the year and will probably deal with many phases of labor-management problems.

McClellan disclosed the committee, after cleaning up matters today in its Teamsters and Bakery Workers Union investigations, will launch a new

Air Pollution Called Worse

Dallas, July 16 (AP)—Dr. William G. Frederik, an industrial hygiene director, said yesterday air pollution is potentially more dangerous than nuclear fallout.

Frederik, of Detroit, Mich., said more than 200 chemical compounds which can contribute to bad health and disease are much more common in the air over the nation's big cities than radio-active particles from atom bomb tests.

Would-Be Actor Admits Shooting, Police Declare

New York, July 16 (AP)—A young would-be actor has reportedly admitted shooting a reputed loan shark and stuffing the body into a small trunk.

Police said Edward J. Polakowski, 23, claimed last night he only wanted to scare James F. Malloy, 53, but then accidentally shot him in an argument over borrowed money.

Detectives quoted Polakowski as saying: "I was up to my neck in debt." They said Malloy had loaned him $140 with interest set at $28 a week.

Polakowski, a handsome six-footer with curly blond hair, gave this account of Malloy's death:

Polakowski invited Malloy to his apartment last Friday night and pleaded with him for more time to pay. The young man sat with a .22 caliber rifle in his hands.

Lunges for Rifle

Then Malloy made a lunge for the rifle. As Polakowski pulled away, the weapon discharged accidentally.

Malloy was shot three times. Police seized Polakowski yesterday and questioned him for seven hours before, they said, he broke down and admitted the killing.

Malloy's ring and wristwatch and a .22 caliber rifle were found in Polakowski's apartment. Two $50 bills believed to have belonged to the dead man also were discovered there.

Polakowski led detectives to an ashcan near his West 55th street apartment where they recovered Malloy's bullet-riddled clothes.

A search of the young man's

Days Announced For August Sale

Kingston Days in August will be on the 8th, 9th, and 10th.

This was announced today by the board of directors of the Kingston Uptown Businessmen's Association.

Stanley London, chairman of the event this year, said that merchants would be contacted in the near future concerning plans for the sale.

Elsworth Signs to Close Camp

Authorities Say 190 Have Diarrhea

Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth today signed an order granting a temporary injunction closing Berkshire Mountain Camp on Burden Lake, Rensselaer county, after determining that the camp had opened for the season without a permit from the county health authorities.

Children at the camp will be evacuated as rapidly as parents can be notified and make arrangements for taking the children home. Meanwhile the county health office may have a man at the camp to see that the provisions of the court order are complied with as rapidly as possible.

190 Case of Diarrhea

The matter came on before Justice Elsworth in special term of supreme court here this morning after the Rensselaer county health authorities had moved to close the camp when it alleged 190 cases of diarrhea had broken out in the camp. They blamed pollution of a spring, well and lake as the cause.

Elmer Rasmussen, county attorney, appearing for the health board said the camp operated by Seymour J. Smith had been denied a permit to operate because of conditions in the water supply and in the kitchens when an inspection was made following the outbreak of diarrhea over the past weekend. He told Justice Elsworth "that conditions could not be remedied to make it possible to grant a permit. Inspectors had found maggots in the food and kitchen conditions were unsanitary in other ways."

John E. Mirch, Troy attorney appearing for the camp operator, said conditions had been "played up" in the press and he said some of the recommendations suggested by the health officials had been complied with. He asked that the camp remain open since closing it would be a severe financial disaster to the operator. He held that the permit was being "arbitrarily" denied by the health officials. The camp had been operated as an adult resort last year.

During the argument it was stated by Rasmussen that Smith had operated another camp last year in the county without a permit.

Recess Taken

Rasmussen offered to present testimony as to the conditions found and a recess was taken during which Justice Elsworth discussed informally with the parties the proposition and when court convened after the recess Justice Elsworth said in the absence of any permit he felt there was sufficient reason for him to make a determination without the taking of any testimony and grant a temporary injunction.

Justice Elsworth said the

Troopers Chase Auto 50 Miles at 100 MPH

Six teen-agers from the Albany area—three boys and three girls—led state police on a 100 MPH chase beginning near Kingston about midnight and ending up a short time later against a tree in Selkirk almost 50 miles north.

Although most of the youngsters reportedly suffered minor cuts or bruises—one having pitched through the windshield—they all abandoned the car and dashed into the woods where troopers from area barracks, including Trooper Charles Teelon, BCI, of the Kingston station, spent four hours rounding them up.

The driver, Robert Schlotterer, 16, of Rensselaer, was arrested on six charges—speeding, operating an unregistered motor vehicle, driving without a license, leaving the scene of an accident, reckless driving and improper plates.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace William Comstock of the town of Bethlehem and fined a total of $325. Young Schlotter was committed to the Albany county jail in lieu of payment.

Smashes Into Tree

During the chase, which began when Trooper Teelon attempted to stop the vehicle on Route 9W near the Kingston state police barracks for a routine check, the fleeing car sped north through Saugerties, Coxsack and Catskill into Selkirk where it sideswiped another vehicle and ended up by smashing head-on into a tree on the grounds of the Jericho School in that village.

Trooper Teelon had tailed the car all the way at speeds up to 100 MPH. He radioed ahead for assistance and troopers of the Catskill and Selkirk stations attempted to set up roadblocks. The speed of the chase, however, made it impossible to prepare the blocks before the fugitive vehicle had gotten through.

Trooper Teelon narrowly escaped possible serious injury in an attempt to avoid the fleeing vehicle when it was in collision with another car at Selkirk. He swung his patrol car off the highway and into a ditch.

The car operated by Schlot-

County President May Come Before Voters of Broome

Binghamton, N. Y., July 16 (AP)—A proposal that Broome county be the first in the state to adopt a county president form of government is expected to go before the voters next November.

The League of Women Voters has gathered 7,000 signatures—700 more than necessary—on petitions to put the question on the ballot. The petitions are to be submitted soon to the board of elections.

The county presidency is one of four alternative forms of county government law of 1953. The president would be elected for a four-year term and would have veto power over acts of the county board of supervisors.

None of the four alternatives set in 1953 has been adopted as yet, although three counties—Nassau, Westchester and Monroe—had county executives under legislation existing previously.

Sharp Controversy

The proposal has generated sharp controversy here. The chief opponent is William H. Hill, county Republican leader. The leaders of the GOP-controlled board of supervisors also are opposed.

The executive committee of the Democratic county committee has come out in support of

Cox, Publisher Who Ran For Presidency, Is Dead

Dayton, Ohio, July 16 (AP)—James M. Cox, whose long and varied career carried him from a small Ohio farm to the threshold of the presidency, died in his home here last night at the age of 87.

Cox, three-time Ohio governor and a newspaper publisher for more than half a century, was Democratic presidential candidate in 1920 with Franklin D. Roosevelt as his running mate. Warren G. Harding, another Ohio publisher, won the election by more than seven million votes.

Cox' death came after several years of failing health. Thursday afternoon he stumbled and fell while working at the Dayton Daily News, one of his newspapers, and that night suffered a stroke. He went into a coma the next day and never regained consciousness.

Although James Cox Jr., was chief executive of the newspaper, the elder Cox remained active in publishing the Dayton News, the Dayton Journal Herald, the Springfield (Ohio) Sun, the Springfield (Ohio) News, the Miami (Fla.) Daily News, the Atlanta Journal and the Atlanta Constitution. Cox also operated stations WHIO and WHIO-TV in Dayton, WSB and WSB-TV in Atlanta and WCKT and WCKR radio and TV in Miami, Fla.

Cox was born March 31, 1870, on a farm near Jacksonburg in southwestern Ohio. His formal education ended after two years of high school, but at 16 he took a teacher's examination and passed it.

He taught for a few terms then joined a brother-in-law who was editor of a newspaper at Middletown, Ohio. Cox worked as a printer's devil, part-time reporter and general handy man. He later joined the Cincinnati

Soviet-Czech Would Ban Nuclear Bombs Production

Prague, July 16 (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev made a strong bid today for greater collaboration between the Communists and western "Progressive" parties.

The Soviet Communist boss made the final speech of his Czechoslovak tour before a mass meeting in Prague's old Town Hall Square, after signing a Soviet-Czech communique which called for unconditional prohibition of atomic and hydrogen bombs.

He appealed for greater unity and friendship among all nations of the Communist camp, including Yugoslavia. Then he urged that the Communist nations must work more closely with "Progressives" of the western world.

Of the joint communique, he said it expressed complete unity of views on both party developments—which apparently included the Kremlin purge—and on international affairs.

A broadcast by radio Prague stressed the communique's call for an immediate stop to testing and production of nuclear bombs.

Probe Stalls

May 11 burglary and authorities called for further probe of Monday's arrests.

Possibly Four Involved

Authorities have since indicated that new information could involve at least four regular members of the police force, and since the probe started, Special Officer Robert FitzGibbon, 24, of Colonial Gardens, has been "relieved of duty" pending an investigation separate from that involving the others.

Another separate charge is possible against one of the four regular patrolmen now under suspicion, it was indicated yesterday.

It could not be determined at this time whether the grand jury report this week would include findings on the four regular patrolmen under suspicion, or on the reports and information which led to the suspension of FitzGibbon. The latter has been reported as top man on a civil service eligibility list for permanent appointment to the force.

Edward Baineski, who figures in the May 11 charge with McCloskey and Keller, is also named on the eligibility list.

Confirms Auction Report

District Attorney Howard C. St. John also confirmed reports that Szymanski and Leo Baineski are known to have been connected with the operation of an auction in the Tannersville-Hunter sections of Greene county. They pleaded innocent through their attorney Sherwood Davis in City Court Monday and are due for preliminary hearing tomorrow.

Police said items such as razor blades, playing cards, and tooth paste, valued at about $200 had been stacked up in the Livingston and LeFever building Monday, as if ready to be removed.

It is charged that guns, T-shirts, shorts and a car battery, value unknown, were taken in the May 11 burglary.

It was indicated today that the probe is expected to continue after the expected partial report of the grand jury. Several members of the department have been questioned, to date. All summoned were expected to appear under waivers of immunity.

Mayor Asks For Probe

Mayor Stang in a letter to District Attorney St. John, released for publication yesterday, asked for early grand jury action, and proposed that the district attorney obtain outside investigators. The grand jury convened at 2 p. m. yesterday, and St. John said he had already taken steps to obtain additional investigators.

Recent police board action authorized Deputy Chief Robert F. Murphy, under supervision of Chief Raymond Van Buren, to conduct the police department's investigation with the cooperation of local detectives. They are now to be assisted by the men named by the district attorney.

FitzGibbon Not Back

A report today that Officer FitzGibbon, who was suspended last week, was back on duty, proved untrue. Chief Van Buren said he had not been authorized to return.

Elsworth Signs

camp should never have been opened in the absence of a permit.

He granted the injunction and signed an order from the bench. He suggested the health department station a man at the camp until the last child is evacuated and said it would require a reasonable time to notify parents and have the children removed.

110 Children Removed

Since the outbreak of the illness it was stated 110 children have been removed from the camp by parents. The children come from New York city and Long Island. Tuition was said to have been $457 for the season.

The matter came on before Justice Elsworth under a show cause order granted last Friday. At that time it was agreed the matter could be heard on motion of either of the parties and was set down for this morning before Justice Elsworth in Kingston.

Justice Elsworth said the camp should have been closed during the past four or five years under the court action of last week.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 16 (AP)—A strong initial advantage by the stock market faltered today, leaving prices irregular early this afternoon.

A slight trend to the upside remained in fairly active trading.

The market surged ahead at the opening as some sizable blocks were traded. A number of blue chip issues touched new high for the year.

But profit-taking came into the picture quickly to blunt the advance, and later to cancel many of the gains.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at $188.50 with the industrials down 20 cents, the rails up 40 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Four Slightly Hurt

In Two-Car Mishap

Two persons were injured slightly at Hone and West Pierpont street Monday afternoon.

Aaron Jones, 71, of Esopus, reported a cut on the forehead, and Patricia Holgate, 16, of Phoenixia suffered cuts of the leg. Both were to be treated by a doctor. They were riding in a car owned and operated by James Holgate, 66, of Phoenixia, headed west on West Pierpont street.

Geraldine Virke, 10, and Karon Quigley, 5, of Colonial Gardens, in the car of John Francis Quigley, 33, of Colonial Gardens, headed north on Hone street, host of friends, who has dedicated his life to work in government.

William S. Keyser, alderman-at-large; Bernhard S. Kramer, mayor and Raymond J. Mino to succeed himself as city judge. (Freeman photo).

The office of city clerk, in which he served 10 years, served as a superior training ground for the office of mayor. Mr. Connelly pointed out, "He has lived with the intricacies of government and the problems of the city . . . he has been a bridge between the executive and legislative branches of our government."

Ability Recognized

"His recent election to the presidency of the State Association of City and Village Clerks," Mr. Connelly said, "is recognition by his peers of his personality, ability and know-how in city government."

Mr. Kramer said he accepted the nomination "with a feeling of deep humility, and trust that with God's guidance I may serve my city and its citizens well."

"Once elected the successful candidates and the successful party must always bear one thing in mind: The citizenry have placed in them a trust, a trust to serve all and not a chosen few."

"I want to thank my family, who are perhaps most responsible for what is happening to me tonight, and to my wife, Caryl, a special thanks. To you (the assembly) all my deepest appreciation and may we be victorious in November."

Keyser Man of Experience

Alderman Keyser of the Second ward was nominated for alderman-at-large by Joseph Kelly of the Fourth ward, who formerly served three terms in the post. Kelly said of Mr. Keyser: "He is a Godfearing man devoted to his family, one devoted to his church, his government and his fellowman."

At present he is serving the second ward in the Kingston City Common Council. His record shows that he has been chairman of the Laws and Rules Committee of that body, also of the Urban Renewal Committee.

He advocated by-passes for Albany and Washington avenues, a new City Charter, new zoning laws, better parking facilities and legislation to give tax relief to real property owners.

As a member of the Common Council committee he is presently studying garbage and trash disposal problems.

Active Civically

He has found time to serve on the Ulster County Heart Fund Drive, and to take part in activities of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

This young man has also served as president and elder of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer and as vice president of Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Assistant City Judge Harry Gold nominated Judge Mino for the city court bench, saying that "he is eminently qualified for the position . . . because of his legal training, his wide experience as a practicing attorney before all courts of the state and his judicial temperament."

Had Court Act Changed

He stressed in his nomination speech that Judge Mino, in his first term, realized that the City Court Act under which he operated was antiquated, and it was largely through his efforts that a new City Court Act was passed by the New York State Legislature, which has made our city court one of the outstanding city courts of the state.

"He performed his duties so well that four years ago he was endorsed for reelection by the Democratic party. . . Now after eight years he is even more deserving of reelection."

Alderman Keyser and Judge Mino joined in thanking the convention, urged all to work hard for the ticket and pledged their best efforts to the jobs if elected.

Full Time Mayor

In his speech, Mayor Stang said "I found that practically all my time, day and night, has been spent in an effort to solve the many perplexing problems that have arisen during the last three and a half years."

His law practice is "almost non-existent," and he felt he owed it to his family, too, to return to his chosen field as a lawyer. He said he would continue his interest in the city and county and stressed that some day he hoped to re-enter public service.

also suffered minor injuries. The former reported a bump on the head and the latter abrasions of the left leg.

Democrats Will Convene Tonight

Two Democratic party conventions are scheduled tonight at the Ulster county courthouse to nominate candidates for the November election.

With One Horse, Dry Cow, He'd Starve

Ventura, Calif., July 16 (AP)—Bud Abbott, who owns a ranch near here, says that his split-up with Lou Costello doesn't mean that he's retiring from the entertainment world.

Abbott yesterday verified Costello's disclosure that the famous team was separating. Costello also had stated that Abbott planned to devote his time to raising horses. At this Abbott balked:

"I'd starve to death, ranching," he said. "Why I only have two animals on the place—one milk cow that went dry and one horse. And the ranch is up for sale."

Abbott is the slenderer and older (by 10 years, at 61) half of the team. He said that the parting was amicable.

"Lou said he wanted to try it alone and I told him to go ahead, and that I would work out something for myself," said Abbott. "I've got to work to keep groceries on the table, and there's only one type of work I know—entertainment."

PROPOSED REMODELING — Architect's sketch shows interior of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of West Camp with proposed changes. The console of the church organ, which is to be electrified, may be seen on the left. Not shown is the large painting of Christ by Julius Gentelin of Catskill which graces the altar and will be placed over the altar in the remodeled chancel.

Historic West Camp Church Plans $30,000 Renovation

A $30,000 renovation project for St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of West Camp was announced this week by the Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, pastor.

Estimates for the work to include the complete remodeling of the interior and electrification of the organ were listed in a four page brochure mailed to all members and friends of the congregation.

Estimates Listed

Estimates were as follows: Acoustical tile ceiling $1,200; chancel, including furniture $3,000; floor $2,500; lighting, wiring and fixtures $3,000; rebuilding and electrification of organ $8,500; painting of exterior $1,200; interior decoration $1,500; pews, including kneeling benches $3,000; plastering and carpentry work $1,600 and installation of new heating plant. The heating plant work was completed recently.

Pledges from members of the congregation have been received during the past two weeks and an all-out finance campaign will get underway next week to obtain pledges for the entire amount.

Suggested memorial gifts listed in the brochure included the altar $600; pulpit $250; lectern $125; hymn boards $75 each; pews, each $170; center and side aisle carpet $500 and lighting fixtures, each $100.

Censure Beaten

London, July 16 (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan's government beat back a Socialist censure move on its Cyprus policy last night. The Tories won a 326-260 parliamentary vote of confidence, with members voting on party lines. Before the vote, Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd told the House of Commons amid Socialist jeers that partition of the rebellious island colony is still possible as a last resort. Leaders of the 400,000 Greek-speaking Cypriots demand union of the island with Greece. The 100,000 Turkish-speaking Cypriots favor partition if the British pull out.

Artist Starts Voyage

New York, July 16 (AP)—A 24-year-old German artist set sail for Europe yesterday on a raft made of airplane wing tanks. Wolfgang Krauer von Schwarzenfeld of Munich said he hoped to make the solo crossing in 30 to 40 days. He has no radio. The voyage is a return trip for von Schwarzenfeld. Last year he sailed across the Atlantic to Miami, Fla., on the two-masted raft.

Medical Men Not In Agreement on Fats and Heart

Albany, N. Y., July 16 (AP)—Rich-food fanciers concerned with their hearts were faced with a gastronomic problem today—should they wallow in that "luxurious" diet and perhaps suffer heart disease?

Medical men are opposed in their views as to the relationship between a high-fat diet and heart disease.

Two prominent researchers yesterday contended there was no evidence to support claims that a high-fat diet contributed to heart disease.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, New York State Health Commissioner and Dr. Jacob Yerushalmy, University of California biostatistician, declared "the suggested association...cannot at this time be accepted as valid."

Thus they took issue with the recent findings of Dr. Ancel Keys, noted University of Minnesota physiologist, who says he has found "a remarkable relationship" between fat consumption and coronary disease.

On Sunday, a report issued by a 13-man international committee said there were indications that a "luxurious diet" may be associated with development of heart disease. Hilleboe heads the committee and Yerushalmy and Keys are members.

Hilleboe and Yerushalmy reported in an article in the State Journal of Medicine that they had made a further study of the issue in the last several months while the groups' report was being processed.

They observed that Keys had based his findings on a comparison between the percentage of fat available in the diet and the coronary death rate among men aged 45-59 and 55-59 in six nations.

Shows Upward Trend

The comparison showed a sharp trend upward in the death rate as the percentage of fat increased. The United States, of six nations studied, was high on the list.

Hilleboe and Yerushalmy said they carried the study further to include all 22 nations from which such information was available.

When this was done, they said it became "immediately obvious" that the apparent association...is greatly reduced."

The two researchers said they found wide variations in the death rates among men aged 55-59 in countries where enough fat was available to constitute 30 to 40 per cent of the diet. The rate ranged from 300 or less per 100,000 in Norway, West Germany, Sweden, Denmark and the Netherlands, to 600 or more for Australia, Canada and Finland, to 739 in the United States, still high on the list.

Hilleboe and Yerushalmy stressed that, while their analysis did not demonstrate an association between diet and heart disease, they were not offering it as proof that there was no link.

On Way to Seoul

Buffalo, N. Y., July 16 (AP)—A South Korean boy who posed as a penniless stowaway when he "surrendered" to police last month, today was reported flying back to Seoul. His father, a wealthy lawyer there, bought the tickets. Nineteen-year-old Young Bae Kim, told police on June 10 that he entered the country illegally as a stowaway. Under questioning however he admitted he was a student at Louisburg, (N.C.) Junior College. He said he had spent most of his allowance and was failing in his schoolwork. His hope was the U. S. immigration authorities would depart him back home. While in Buffalo he lived at a church home.

POLITICIANS, NOTE

The most remarkable thing about the International Geophysical Year just getting under way this month is that it is being undertaken at all.

The "year" actually will cover 18 months. In that time scientists of some 60 nations will give the earth the most intensive checkup it has ever had in such a time span.

They will record coordinated measurements of the earth's crust, its interior, the oceans, the atmosphere and the forces beyond the atmosphere—cosmic rays, effect of sun spots and the like.

That the world's scientists should agree to the wisdom of this study is an inevitable tribute to their insatiable curiosity, their willingness to seek again and again for fresh understanding of this well-trod planet.

For centuries men have been putting the measure to this earth, sniffing its atmosphere, poking into its depths, climbing its heights, plumbing the oceans. No one imagines the task is complete, and of course it has been going forward steadily with the passing years.

Yet much vital measuring and discovering has long since been done, and it was quite an idea, therefore, that the scientists of many lands should cooperate in so intensive a survey as has now been launched.

Of necessity, much past measurement has been on a limited, more or less individual basis. An overall portrait of the earth and its interior has been gained by piecing together the assorted fragments.

The great virtue of the studies in the Geophysical Year is that through the fortunate collaboration of so many nations the findings will be fully and thoroughly coordinated. General conclusions may emerge from this study that otherwise might not come to notice for decades or longer.

One can't help wondering what would happen if politicians around the globe undertook the business of managing the world's practical affairs in the same co-operative spirit.

SOVIET LAMENTS

The Russians don't like the talk from President Eisenhower and top U. S. scientists that in a few years we will be able to produce an H-bomb almost "clean" of radioactive fall-out. It doesn't fit with their propaganda against the continuance of nuclear tests.

The sad laments of a Soviet newspaper that the Americans are going to develop a "notorious clean bomb with which they can destroy mankind with a great amount of precision" have a hypocritical ring.

If a clean bomb should be perfected, then the hydrogen device becomes simply a colossal explosive capable of destruction on an unprecedented mass scale. In this respect it differs thereafter only in degree from any other explosive ever employed in warfare.

The Russians have the largest land army on earth, and certainly the biggest if not the most powerful air force. Beyond doubt this military establishment is well-equipped with conventional arms—whatever may be Russia's stock of nuclear weapons.

The human beings who would be killed by the conventional bullets, shells and bombs used by this army in any future war would be just as dead as anyone killed by an H-bomb, clean or otherwise.

What the Soviet Union seems to be saying, as others have tried to say before, is that it is all right to kill people singly or in modest hundreds or thousands, but it is wicked to kill them in the tens or hundreds of thousands.

Russia's bleeding for humanity is phony. What the Kremlin really dislikes is the fact that the United States has a commanding advantage in a field that is so important as to constitute an effective bar to all Soviet designs of major military conquest.

Leaving aside all arguments of moral character and of damage to innocent millions through fall-out, it is plain that a clean

PUNISHMENT FITS THE CRIME

A friend writes me:

"... Fundamentally the reason why punishment does not act to deter crime, is because every crime in the book is a symptom of a fundamental disease, and apprehending and punishing the criminal does no more good than putting salve on the open sores of one who is suffering from the deficiency disease of scurvy."

This is a point of view that has been growing upon the human race since Beccaria engaged in proposing prison reform. If we sentence a man to reform him, we shall inevitably fail because it is experience that punishment does not improve the criminal, although it may make him afraid. Nevertheless, we cannot place a crown of laurel leaves on the kidnapper's brow and praise him for his kindness in not kidnapping two children instead of only one. What needs to be done with a kidnapper is to deprive him of his liberty and life as we deprive a murderer of his life. And we ought to be honest about it: we ought not to say that we send a kidnapper to Alcatraz to reform him, to improve his morals, or to set a glowing example to future generations. We ought to say that we do it because this fellow is a no good so-and-so and we want to get rid of him.

It is nonsense to say that men kidnap or murder or go into rackets because they are starving. Who that is older than 25 years has not, somewhere along the line, had it very tough and even been hungry at times? But most of us of the older generation expected nothing that we did not earn ourselves and there were no laws to keep boys of 18 with mustaches and sideburns, idle.

I have known many wicked people in my day, gangsters, thieves, murderers, bandits, even kidnappers, the kind of people a newspaperman gets to see and talk to professionally or even socially. Part of my boyhood was spent where on one side, the Kid Twist Gang was being formed and on the other side, the Paul Kelly Gang was already operating.

My friend's idea that punishing the criminal does him no good has merit, if that is what she means, but when I see a young girl in New Jersey faked and murdered by a dope, or a baby on Long Island kidnapped and thrown among bushes to die from exposure, I have no desire to reform the guys who did it. I want to get rid of them, so that they may not do it again. It is presently regarded as sound sociology to be merciful to the evil-doer, to be tough on the police if they try to discover a criminal, and to ignore the social value of protecting the person against whom the crime is committed. It is twisted logic.

Did the little girl in New Jersey have as much right to live as her raper and murderer? She did not have a twisted mind. She was not abnormal or subnormal or whatever you want to call the dope. She was just a girl, going her way and living a decent life. This idiot was impelled to rape and murder her because, as my friend says, he was suffering from a fundamental disease. So he raped and murdered her.

But what about her? And what about other little girls that this fellow or similar ones will be impelled to rape and murder? Are they not to be protected from such compulsions?

And that is what is wrong about the Jencks and Mallory decision handed down by the Supreme Court. Suppose you, as a citizen, driving along the road, hear a small child crying in what looks like an abandoned house. Suppose you have been a neighbor of that child and recognize its voice. You telephone to the FBI and express your suspicion that you know where the kidnapped child is.

Your suspicion goes into the raw files of the FBI. They may be correct or not. Up to the Jencks decision, you could be sure that your act of good citizenship would be sacred, that your own children would not be imperiled by an act of revenge. Once the citizen feels he is in such peril, he will not aid law enforcement agencies. The law of self-preservation will guide him.

★ Dr. Jordan Says ★

Jealous Child Reverts To Habits of Babyhood

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

Jealousy takes strange forms and is not confined to grownups. The person who is jealous is usually more unhappy or uncomfortable than the one who is envied.

A grandmother writes that her five-year-old granddaughter for the past few months has been dirtying her pants, which she had not done since a baby. However, she also gives the probable explanation by saying that the little girl's mother also has a four-month-old baby.

The chances are, therefore, that the five-year-old girl is jealous of her baby sister and is seeking attention from her parents by reverting to a baby habit.

THIS SITUATION requires understanding on the part of the parents, with affection shown to the five-year-old and not too much attention to resumption of the baby habit. If this is done, it is likely that the five-year-old will shortly stop and accept the new baby.

Fourteen-year-old youngsters seem to have quite a bit of trouble. I have three letters from boys and girls about their health problems. One 14-year-old girl writes that she has bowel trouble, but she has not told her mother "because I am afraid of an operation."

I cannot tell what is at fault since this girl says nothing further. But she certainly should not be afraid to tell her mother! It is unlikely that any bowel trouble she has at 14 would require an operation. She should by all means talk it over with her mother.

ANOTHER 14-YEAR-OLD writes that he has pains in his abdomen and sometimes lumps below his chin. He wants to know if these could be symptoms of glandular fever and whether he should go to a hospital for treatment.

Here, too, I think the youngster has made a mistake in not telling his parents about his worries. It is possible that he has glandular fever or infectious mononucleosis, though the symptoms are not exactly typical. At any rate, if he is uncomfortable and worried, as he says, he should be examined to find out what is wrong.

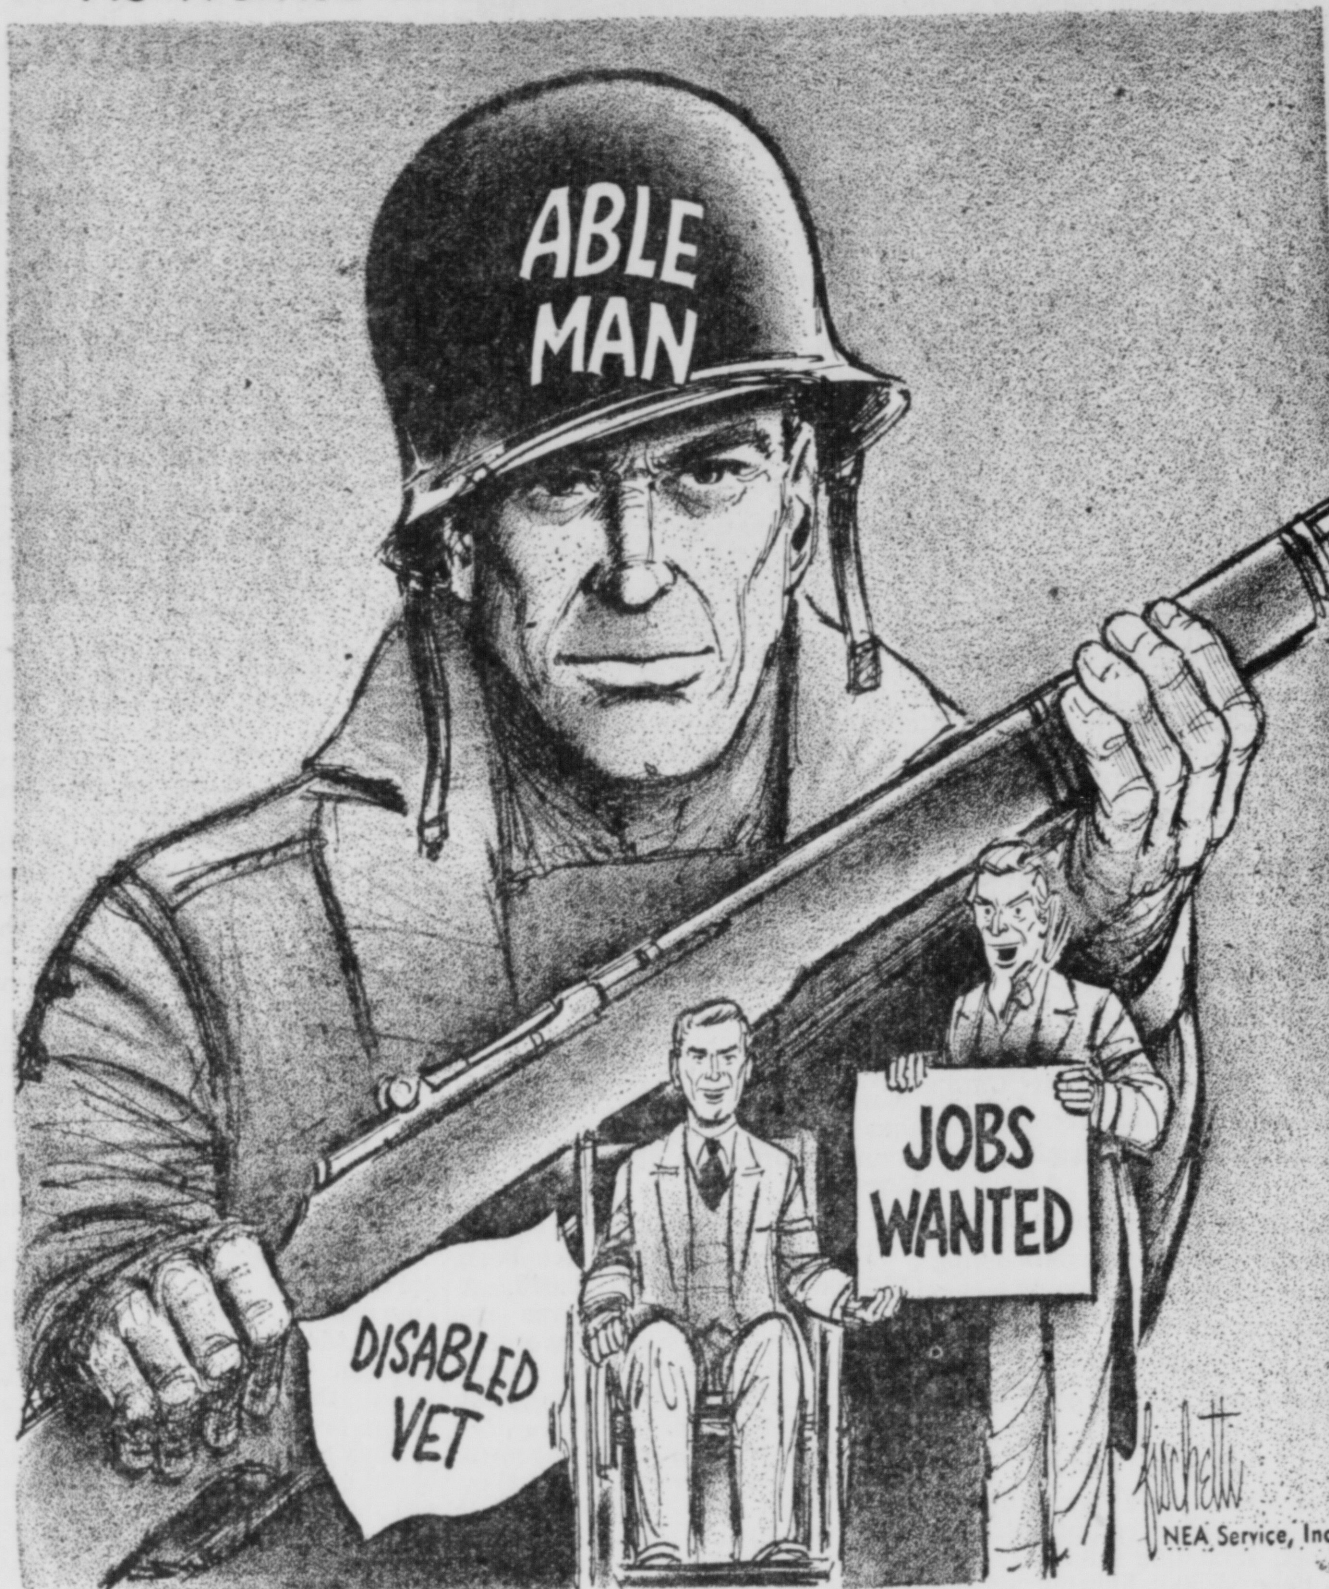

A FINAL question from T. T. asks how many hours of sleep is needed by nine-year-old child. A reasonable average is from nine to 10 hours per night. However, if the child seems healthy and rested in the morning, one would presume he was getting enough for his needs.

bomb would increase our advantage. It would mean we could use nuclear devices tactically with no fear that our own troops and our own population would be fatally contaminated by lethal side effects.

We would much prefer not to use them at all, nor conventional weapons either. We genuinely want effective disarmament. But there is nothing contradictory in going ahead to perfect our weapons at the same time we discuss disarmament.

For, much as we desire peace, we must be prepared for war, prepared to help protect ourselves and the whole free world, until that moment when real, enforceable disarmament comes into actual being.

"He Worked for Us Once---Let Him Work Again"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington, (NEA)—Next to President Eisenhower's scheduled escape from Washington by helicopter, the loudest pin dropped in this year's "Operation Alert" Civil Defense Administration test its issuance with the Atomic Energy Commission of a new handbook on "The Effects of Nuclear Weapons."

In brief, it is 579 pages of bad news, any way you look at it.

The paper-backed volume—which you can buy for $2 like any other losing horse—replaces a 1950 handbook on "The Effects of Atomic Weapons."

The change in title is significant. Seven years ago the worst thing they had to be afraid of was an atom fission bomb the equivalent of 20,000 tons of TNT in explosive force. Two bombs of this size, exploded over Japan, killed "only" 100,000 people.

But on March 1, 1954, the first hydrogen fusion bomb was exploded over Bikini with a force equivalent to 15 million tons of TNT and a radioactive fallout that covered 7,000 square miles. That made the original weapons effect handbook obsolete.

MOST OF THE INFORMATION in the new nuclear weapons job has been issued before by AEC or CDA in bits and pieces. Now it is pulled together to give you all the gloom in one package.

There are brand-new chapters on "Worldwide Fallout," which could be terrible, and "Protective Measures" that can be taken, which aren't very many and won't do much good.

The new handbook makes no mention of the so-called "clean" bomb, which is still pretty theoretical. What it has to say is all about dirty bombs. This should be taken seriously—particularly in Civil Defense Test Week—but is probably won't be so taken.

The general impression from previous releases is that the worst effects of fallout from an H-bomb would be in areas up to 40 miles wide and 200 miles long, down-wind from ground zero point of explosion. This local fallout is described as ceasing to be a serious hazard within a few weeks.

BUT THERE IS ANOTHER form of fallout, says the handbook. It consists of very fine material suspended in the air for a few days to years. This may be deposited in parts of the earth remote from the point of burst. This is "worldwide fallout."

The major part of this fallout is moved by the winds at high altitude. In general, items carried in an easterly direction.

It makes a complete circuit of the globe in four to seven weeks. Only 10 per cent of this debris descends to earth annually.

Rain and snow are the principal scavengers that bring it down. Its two worst hazards are the radioactive isotopes Cesium 137, which is deposited in muscles, and Strontium 90, deposited in bones.

Strontium 90 may lead to anemia, cancer and possibly leukemia.

"If nuclear tests are carried out in the future at about the same rate as in the past," says the new handbook, "the long-term biological effects of Strontium 90 will not be detectable."

On this point, many other scientists differ greatly.

THE MOST EFFECTIVE but not not necessarily the most practical method of minimizing the danger of nuclear weapons, says the handbook, would be by dispersal and underground construction.

Evacuation—removal of the population from a contaminated area—is by no means simple because it involves passage without protection through contaminated areas.

It may be that the best initial step is to seek shelter in relatively closed areas, but the handbook admits that "an ideal shelter is virtually impossible to attain."

Such shelters as can be found may have to be occupied continuously from two to seven days. Food and water supplies should be kept covered to prevent access of fallout particles. Filters for removing small particles of matter may be desirable.

If water is available, the exposed food can be washed free of contamination—provided that the water itself isn't contaminated.

Where water from a reservoir is subjected to regular coagulation, sedimentation and filtration, it is probable that much of the radioactive material would be removed.

As for eating foods raised on soil contaminated by fallout, the handbook admits there isn't sufficient information available yet.

To Be Long Process

Washington, July 16 (AP)—The long-drawn-out Subversive Activities Control Board (SACB) inquiry into alleged Communist infiltration of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers shows signs of running well into next year. Off and on, the hearing conducted by SACB member Francis A. Cherry has been under way since February.

It is now in recess, with no further testimony likely before Sept. 2, and there was no certainty today when the Department of Justice will finish its side of the case. The inquiry was begun on a petition by the attorney general to have the mine-mill union declared to be Communist infiltrated with the meaning of the Communist Control Act. Such a finding by SACB would strip the union of its bargaining rights before the National Labor Relations Board.

Hercules Earnings

Hercules Powder Company reported for the six months ended June 30, 1957, net income equal to $1.03 a share of common stock. Net income in the first six months of 1956 was equal to $1.18 a share of common stock. For the second quarter of 1957, net income was equal to 55 cents a share of common stock. This compares with net income in the second quarter of 1956 equal to 63 cents a share. Net sales and operating revenues for the six-month period were $124,752,286 compared with $120,433,778 for the corresponding 1956 period.

Duty Free Airport

In 1947, Shannon airport near Limerick, Ireland, became the first duty free airport in the world. The airport shops sell Swiss watches, German cameras and whiskey without import or export duties.

Congress' Powers to Curb Supreme Court Reviewed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 16—This is the week when the American Bar Association is meeting in New York, and already there are the usual tirades against those lawyers and laymen who have had the temerity to criticize recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States. The misleading theory that the Supreme Court is the "last word" and that once the court has spoken, there is no right of criticism or any opportunity to secure a reversal has been widely propagated.

Actually, Congress has authority over the Supreme Court and can nullify its decisions at will in many instances by the simple method of specifying by law what cases the Supreme Court may or may not pass upon thereafter. The Constitution says:

Original Jurisdiction

"In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations as the Congress shall make."

This means that Congress can issue a set of regulations in which it can be stipulated, for example, that the Supreme Court may not review or accept for appeal any cases involving testimony taken by committees of Congress relating to contempt or refusal to answer. The Congress also could by law specify that no cases shall be received by the Supreme Court for appeal involving local law-enforcement problems, such as the right of the Federal government or a state or city or county government to question before or after arraignment persons arrested and suspected of crime. Congress can specify that these shall be hereafter decided by lower courts or specially constituted tribunals.

Congress Has the Power

It is not generally realized that Congress has the power to create or abolish lower courts. The Constitution says:

"The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish. The judges, both of the Supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office."

Not only does the Congress have power to specify by law what "good behavior" means but also what the district courts and the U. S. Circuit Courts of Appeals shall rule upon. Through its power to "ordain and establish" special courts, Congress can deal with particular problems that may arise. The Constitution, indeed, gives a very narrow jurisdiction over cases to the Supreme Court and gives the widest jurisdiction to Congress to declare what cases the highest court may properly undertake to review.

If, therefore, the Congress wishes to pass a law stating that the Supreme Court shall not review any cases involving schools or educational problems, this can be done without violating the Constitution. Education can be left to state courts, and when a Federal question arises, it can be given to Federal District Courts for final judgment.

The people, therefore, have a right to appeal to their elected representatives in Congress to take steps to curb what they believe is the recklessness and arbitrariness of the Supreme Court. It is an inherent right which the people have to express themselves on these points.

Certainly the right to criticize cannot be denied to the people when the members of the court itself exercise that privilege. It was Justice Clark of the Supreme Court who on June 17 last, in a dissenting opinion in the Watkins case, said:

"As I see it the chief fault in the majority opinion is its mischievous curbing of the informing function of the Congress... My experience in the Executive branch of the government leads me to believe that the requirements laid down in the opinion for the operation of the committee system of inquiry are both unnecessary and unworkable."

Not "Irrevocable"

Here is a Justice who tells the nation that the investigative function of Congress itself has been seriously interfered with. He calls this "mischievous." Yet there are persons who claim that what the Supreme Court has said is sacrosanct and that anyone who criticizes the court is out of order. One President of the United States has said in a public speech that the decisions of the Supreme Court are not "irrevocable." Another President, also in a speech, said:

"Our difficulty with the court today rises not from the court as an institution but from human beings within it. ... We have reached the point as a nation where we must take action to criticize the Constitution from the court and the court from itself. ... The court, in addition to its proper use of its judicial functions, has improperly set itself up as a third house of the Congress—a super-legislature, as one of the Justices has called it—reading into the Constitution words and implications which are not there, and which were never intended to be there."

Certainly this is a legitimate form of criticism, and certainly there still is a right to differ and dissent from so-called "judicial" opinions as well as from Presidential utterances. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

Tuesday, July 16 (AP)—A Canadian dollar is five cents more than the U. S. dollar.

Bargain Basement

Canada calls the U. S. practice a bargain basement tactic that is shutting Canadian wheat out of many foreign markets, where the local currencies are plentiful and Canadian dollars scarce.

The trouble over the trade strictly between the United States and Canada is that we have been selling them well over one billion dollars more a year than they have been buying from them. And the deficit is growing. In the first five months of this year the gap was 670 million dollars.

The difference has been more than made up by the American investor. He has been buying Canadian securities and pouring investment capital into our northern neighbor at so great a rate that the Canadian dollar is scarce in comparison with the Yankee dollar and can therefore command a five-cent premium.

But the new conservative regime is happy about neither the trade gap nor the control that American corporations are getting over Canadian industries. Americans, for example, control 70 per cent of Canada's gas and oil industry.

Canadians propose that U. S. corporations with Canadian subsidiaries admit Canadian investors of these firms, put more Canadians on the boards of directors and operate practically as Canadian concerns.

They aren't saying, "Yankee dollar go home." They just want to reduce the weight it throws around. So now the American businessman has a headache with a northern exposure to match those he has on almost all other sides.

Questions -- Answers

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

The other day in The Freeman I read with pleasure that Andrew J. Snyder of the Century Cement Manufacturing Co. Inc. of Rosendale announced that he would buy All Saints' Episcopal Church with the idea of turning it into a library.

"Mr. Snyder considers the church, built in 1876, an architectural gem. It is made of Rosendale cement rock and cement mined in the area. Originally, the stone was blue in color, but has turned to a pleasing brown hue through oxidation over the 81 year period." The item under the sturdy and picturesque little church read.

Strange as it may seem, while I was thinking about Mr. Snyder and had the front page of the paper laid aside by the typewriter to use it in my next column I received a letter dated the same day as the newspaper from the Century Cement Co. of Rosendale. Letter reads: "Dear Sophie: I thought you might like one of these souvenir paper weights. Through the courtesy of Mr. A. J. Snyder, President of the Century Cement Co. of Rosendale, N. Y., our local boy scouts attending the National Jamboree at Valley Forge were provided with 1,000 of these hand moulded specimens to be used as 'swap items.' Sincerely, John J. Kelly."

It is a very interesting and sturdy paper weight on one side are two stickers, one reading: "Famous Rosendale Natural Cement since 1831." In the other sticker, "Council Rip Van Winkle, Kingston, N. Y."

On the back is pasted: "This souvenir paperweight was made especially for the 1957 Jamboree by the largest natural cement company in the world. The rock from which this cement is made is about 400 million years old. Hundreds of notable structures including the Brooklyn Bridge, the U. S. Capitol used this cement in their construction."

No doubt these 1,000 good-will offerings from Mr. Snyder will find their way into homes and school rooms all over the nation for years to come. Because of its size, shape and weight it will be very helpful to me when I work with many clippings.

Just read a letter in The Freeman on the Perrine Bridge by Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, town and village historian of New Paltz and Gardiner and 1st vice-president, Ulster County Historical Society. Of course I agree with Mr. Hasbrouck, neither do I want to see the Perrine Bridge go the way of our other historical and well known sight-seer attractions: the way of the "Clermont" replica; the famous Mary Powell; the ice-breaker, sidewheeler, Norwick; the Skilly-put chain-ferry. Only our section seems to let such attractions get away from us.

Other communities take public subscription like they did for the rebuilding of Old Ironsides or "Constitution" still intact at Boston. Public subscription built the Franklin D. Roosevelt pool at the White House.

In 1874 France, through popular subscription raised $700,000 to build the Statue of Liberty. The "World" newspaper of New York city then raised $300,000 for the pedestal from such small donations as dimes from children. Perhaps the Perrine Bridge could yet be saved the same way, if done through the aid of some public spirited bank who was willing to take the time and go through the red tape to see that money was sent to them so it would be completely accounted for and arrived at the proper destination when needed. With money no doubt engineers could find a way to save the Perrine Bridge.

Looking Up

Albuquerque, N. M. (AP)—The Chamber of Commerce wasted no time in picking this one up. A spot check of Bernalillo county records show the average death age in the county at 62 years—up from 40 years during the 1902-10 era.

Abbott, Costello Part Amicably

Hollywood, July 15 (AP)—Bud Abbott and Lou Costello—the funnymen who broke up audiences with the classic and confounding discussion of "who's on first?"—have broken up themselves.

Costello, the rolly-poly prat-faller of the famous comedy team, said yesterday that straight man Abbott has settled down on a ranch near Santa Barbara and decided not to do any more work for awhile.

There was not fight involved in the breakup, Lou said. It's just that Abbott is getting along—he's 61 now, 10 years older than Lou—and wants to get out of the act and spend his time developing a stable of thoroughbred horses.

'Up to Abbott'

Costello said a renewal of the old partnership would be "up to Abbott," but there appears little possibility of such a development.

With Abbott out, Lou is through as a team man. "Oh, I might try and work with Dean Martin," he quipped, but he would want no other partner.

There was actually no formal announcement of the split. A newsman noticed that Costello had been doing a lot of solo jobs recently and asked him about it.

"It's funny," Costello said, "but I was seen as a single by millions of people on . . . national TV shows, and you're the first one who's asked me why. I guess after 20 years no one would believe that Abbott and Costello have split up."

On Costello's agenda as a single are the lead role in a movie based on the life of the late New York Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, more night club appearances, and the emcee's part on a new TV quiz show.

While they were with Universal-International, Abbott and Costello were among the movie industry's 10 leading box office attractions. Their pictures were low-budget jobs and they played a big hand in keeping Universal-

International in business during some very lean years.

One of their pictures, "Buck Privates," cost only $90,000 to make and has grossed nearly 10 million dollars.

Their "Who's on First?" routine, a muddled examination of an offensive baseball situation, has been given a spot in the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N. Y.

Home Coming

Stanton, Ky. (AP)—Mrs. Callie Bowen, 69, found a way to lure her children home for more frequent visits. She built a 5-acre lake on her farm, stocking it with bass. Then she built a cabin on the shore. Now so many of her flock are returning home at vacation time she is planning to build another cabin.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Town Historian Entertains 15 Youths

Highland, July 15—Mrs. Andrew W. Lent, town historian entertained 15 young people from Camp Woodland, Phoenix, July 5 at her home.

They were accompanied by two members of Norman Studer's faculty and Mr. Studer. They were interested in a study of Warren Sherwood's poems of the Platte Binnewater and to acquire information on the background of the author with a view to offering a dramatic production during the camp season.

Other guests were Mrs. W. B. Taber and her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Taber, who knew the author personally. The latter read several poems giving the setting, since she was familiar with the surroundings. Mr. Sherwood had written the early history of the Town of Lloyd, Mr. Sherwood's death. The group visited the Camp Mol-Jo-Ha on Grote Binnewater and Lily Lake, the Kline Binnewater of the poems.

Mrs. Lent was helpful to Harold Harris, author of Treasure Tales of the Shawangunks and Catskill, which was published at the time Ellenville observed the sesquicentennial in 1955. Mr. Harris has given a copy of his book to the local library.

Presbyterian Women Hold Sewing Session

Highland, July 15—An all-day sewing meeting of the Women's Association of the Presbyterian Church was held Wednesday at the home of the president Mrs. Clarence Rathgeb.

Mrs. Paul Frampton and Mrs. Victor Salvatore joined forces in making curtains for one of the primary rooms at the church. Others put quilt patches together in preparation for the market to be held September 7. Dish towels were hemmed for use in the church kitchen.

Mrs. Rathgeb conducted a short business meeting opening with devotions led by Mrs. Casper Davis and a remembrance of the workers in home and foreign fields. Mrs. Rathgeb told of the departments to be found at the market and their leaders. Mrs. Frampton acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Robertson.

Attending were Mrs. M. P. Busch, Mrs. Thomas Sears, Mrs. Edward Krom, Patti Krom, Mrs. Charles Davis, Mrs. Harry Thompson, Mrs. N. D. Williams, Mrs. W. J. Upright, Mrs. Edgar Boyce, Mrs. Salvatore, Mrs. Franklin Welker, Mrs. Casper Davis, Mrs. Frampton, Miss Eliza Raymond and Penny Davis who told of her week at camp at Stony Point.

Dora Mittelstaedt, treasurer; Mrs. Daisy Mackey, assistant recording; Mrs. Velma Clearwater, junior past; Miss Dorothy Churchill, associate junior past; Mrs. Katherine Radcliffe, conductor; Mrs. Hazel Pape, warden; Mrs. Clearwater, Mrs. Florence E. Cotant, Miss Churchill, Mrs. Pape representatives to state session in Syracuse.

Officers to be installed are Mrs. Dorothy Palmer, associate counselor; Robert Temm, assistant financial secretary; Mrs. Loretta Cole, inside sentinel and representative; Mrs. Gertrude Therrien, outside sentinel; Mrs. Charlotte Salmon, representative. Guests included Mrs. Goldie Gerhardt, Sarasota, Fla., past state counselor; Mrs. Temm, deputy of Moll Pitcher Council; Mrs. Marjorie Nelson, Kingston, deputy of Imperial, Saugerties; Mrs. Beatrice Fox, chairman of state finance committee and Deputy Duncan who acted as installing officer.

The next meeting will be August 7 when plans will be discussed for a picnic. During July and August one meeting a month is held.

Town Notes

Highland, July 15—Mrs. Grace Reed Ritchie, Bogota, N. J. visited friends in town Wednesday. Mrs. Ritchie was a former resident.

The Friday bridge club met this week with Mrs. Thomas Sears.

Jacob J. Donovan is recovering from an operation performed Wednesday at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

The death of Herbert R. Ford at his home in Poughkeepsie with burial in the cemetery in Highland Friday was attended by many friends of the family. He was the son of the late Albert and Louise Pratt Ford and was born at the home on the New Paltz road. He was educated in local schools and Eastman Business College. Mrs. Ford, the former Miss Florence Skidmore lived on White street. Mr. Ford's sister, Mrs. Fred Hamilton, St. Petersburg, Fla. had just returned after a visit with relatives in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Penny, son and daughter, left Saturday for a vacation in one of the state parks in central New York. Mrs. Francis Rheel formerly connected with the grape juice company is now holding a position in the First National Bank. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Krom and daughter will vacation on Cape Cod.

Martin Dayton was elected a member of the board of education Wednesday. He received 705 votes while his opponent, Benjamin Bragg had 589 votes. He formerly served as a trustee in the Triboro district, that school now is annexed to the Highland Central school district.

Posthumous

Boone, Iowa (AP)—In October, 1918, during the Meuse-Argonne battle in France, Elmer E. Strandberg was wounded in action. He died Sept. 1, 1956. A few days ago, a Purple Heart came for him, 39 years late.

County Jail Is Praised in Letters Received by Bell

Sheriff Claude Bell has recently received two very complimentary letters from persons who have been remanded to his custody and confined to jail.

One of them, Charles B. Langford, who sought release from Attica prison before County Judge Louis G. Bruhn, expresses his "most sincere thanks and appreciation for your kind consideration in making it possible for me to continue my legal and lawful fight for my freedom."

Langford writes, "there is no doubt that I may have at times caused you or your employees some inconvenience. If I have please forgive me, as it was not intentional. I am most grateful and I assure you, I have found that you do meet a man more than half way if he will go along with you. I don't believe any man can say, 'you are not fair' and if he said you were not fair, he would be lying. May I add the food served here in the Ulster County Jail is better than you'll find in any jail or prison in New York state."

The second letter, coming from a woman who was recently confined to jail says, "I would like to express my gratitude for the understanding, kindness, cleanliness, good food and the good morale which they try to bring out in a person."

Continuing she says the "misconception" of which most people have, of being a prisoner is truly unjust to the people who have the charge and handling of such. In conclusion she wrote, "of course there probably are some or a few jails that do not have the kindness and all of which I have mentioned, but not the Ulster County Jail. What I am trying to get across to the public is that there is less kindness on the outside."

A recent inspection of the Ulster County Jail made by the Department of Correction resulted in a very complimentary report being made of conditions in the jail. The only criticism expressed in that report was the recommendation, which has been made over a period of years, was that the old fashioned niche toilets in the jail be replaced with modern fixtures.

False Gods

New York (AP)—Security is the "modern deity" before whom many modern Americans are "shamelessly groveling," says the Rev. James J. Meany, a division head of Roman Catholic Fordham University. In a baccalaureate before 1,000 graduating students, he cautioned them against putting "false gods" ahead of God—and said the quest for security—for money, position, property and power—has become one of the main "false gods" of the age.

MODENA NEWS

Modena, July 16 — The Civic Committee of Plattkill Lions Club, including local members, have decided to replace the names of U. S. service men in the Modena-Ardonia area, located at the four corners in Modena. A bronze plaque will be placed in a more appropriate setting.

They are requesting assistance and cooperation of the people of the communities represented for donations to help defray the necessary expense incurred in the project.

A sum exceeding $100 has already been received from the defunct Service Cheer Club, organized during World War 2, which will be used, and anyone wishing to add to this amount may send contributions to the club treasurer, Merton E. Jenkins, RD 2, Plattkill.

Letters have been circulated, in the interest of the project, signed by president of the Lions Club, Fred A. Fowler.

Mr. and Mrs. George Crites of Ireland Corners, have transferred their membership from the United Church of Canada, to the Modena Methodist Church.

Emmett Hyatt is chairman of the smorgasbord, to be held Saturday, Aug. 10, at the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall. Servings will commence at 6 p. m.

Tenants are occupying the Fiscelli house, south of Modena, which was recently vacated by Harry Roosa and daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Moran and family, who planned to leave town in June for Lexington, Ky., have postponed their departure until August.

Mr. Moran is employed by the IBM, and is being transferred from the Poughkeepsie plant.

Mrs. Frank E. Crawford of Chelsea; Miss Estelle Sherwood of Newburgh and Miss Glennie M. Wager visited the historic Shawangunk Reformed Church, on Wednesday.

Local people were shocked to learn of the sudden death of Arthur E. DuBois of the Modena road, New Paltz, while at work in Poughkeepsie Friday July 12. Mr. DuBois's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel DuBois, were former residents of Modena, living on the property now occupied by the Cohn family.

Mrs. Charles Rhodes will be co-hostess at a meeting of the Dutch Daughters, of the Gardiner Reformed Church, to be held Wednesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Leon Barclay in Gardiner.

Reports will be made on the strawberry festival held recently on the Gardner Church lawn, netting the sponsors a sum exceeding $100.

A play, entitled "A Cookie for Henry" was directed by Mrs. Rhodes.

Miss Lilly G. Swords, missionary of the Women's Society of Christian Service in Punjab, India, gave the children's sermon, and the regular sermon at worship services of the past week in the Modena Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roggy and family of Brooklyn and their daughter from California, enjoyed the recent holiday vacation at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Bernard and family of Poughkeepsie, were among visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Preston J. Paltridge Sunday.

Local members of the Highland IOOF, and their families, plan to attend the annual picnic to be held Sunday, July 21, at Midway Park, Benton's Corners.

Miss Carol Doyle of Delmar, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. DuBois Grimm.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Juckett of New Paltz, were recent callers in this place.

Ideal weather conditions made the annual church family picnic at Tillson Lake on Sunday, a pleasant occasion.

A worship service opened the day's program, a picnic dinner enjoyed, and recreation arranged.

Rosendale-Tillson Post

Rosendale-Tillson Post 1219, American Legion, will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday, July 18, at post headquarters, Tillson, it was announced today. Members are asked to note the date because notices of the meeting which were mailed earlier this week erroneously listed the date as July 19.

Studies Scripts

New York AP—Helen Hayes will probably return to Broadway next season, but so far hasn't made up her mind which of two scripts she prefers. The veteran star is going to Europe this summer to confer with Anita Loos on "Cock-a-Doodle-Do," a play about a colorful figure in the international set, the late Lady Mendl. Miss Hayes' husband, Charles MacArthur, was at work on the play when he died last year. Miss Hayes is also considering Jean Anouilh's "Time Remembered."

Cox, Publisher

Enquirer where, within a few years, he became a political writer.

His political interests developed and in 1908 he was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives from Ohio's third district. Two years later he was re-elected.

At the end of his second term, Cox ran for governor and was elected. He served in 1913-1915, 1917-1919, and 1919-1921 to become Ohio's first three-term chief executive. He was defeated for the 1915-1917 term.

Presidential Nominee
In 1920 Cox won the Democratic presidential nomination. During a vigorous four-month campaign, Cox sometimes delivered 20 addresses a day in arguing fiercely for U. S. to participate in the League of Nations.

He carried only the solid south, however, and was decisively beaten by Harding. He entered the publishing field in 1898 when he purchased the then-dying Dayton Daily News, and always considered himself a newspaperman first, despite his success in politics.

At dedication ceremonies at a new plant of the Atlanta Journal in 1949, Cox declared that so long as newspapers "give truth to the public, then we can depend on the common sense and patriotism of the mass of the people to keep us free."

He climbed to the deck of one of the printing presses and asserted: "We live under democracy. Government is created and controlled by our public opinion. If public opinion has an untruth to it, it will be just as harmful as though we had deadly poison in our drinking water."

Disappointed at his loss in the presidential race, Cox left active politics and even refused appointment to the Senate in 1945. But his dedication to the major issue of the presidential campaign—the League of Nations—never dimmed.

On the eve of his 75th birthday in 1945, Cox said of World War 2, then drawing to a close: "This war did not need to be. The conviction of that fact will grow as we demonstrate that an outlaw nation cannot run at large, and that disputes can be settled without resort to war."

"Time will reveal even more clearly than it has already done that the conspiracy which wrecked the project for peace after the first World War was the most tragic and sinful chapter in our history."

In 1893, Cox married his first wife, Mayne L. Harding of Cincinnati. They had two children, James Jr. and John. In 1910 the couple was divorced and in 1917 Cox married Margaretta Blair of Chicago. Two daughters, Anne and Barbara, were born to the second marriage.

Eulogies from Associates
Cox' death was met by eulogies from a number of his associates.

In New York, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said she was "very sad" to hear of his death, and added: "I remember him as my husband's running mate and had always had a great respect and admiration for him."

James Farley, former postmaster general, said:

"I was grieved to learn of the death of Gov. Cox. I knew him intimately and well for many years. I was the beneficiary of his advice and wise counsel while chairman of the Democratic National Committee. He was a truly fine American—a great statesman. He was a most successful publisher who made many fine contributions."

In Ohio, Gov. C. William O'Neill said of Cox that "his great contributions for good will live forever. His wise counsel and valuable influence will be sorely missed by his legion of friends in the whole nation." He said Ohio "has lost one of her truly great men in the passing of Gov. James M. Cox," and added "I extend my sincere sympathies to his family."

At Akron, newspaper publisher John S. Knight said: "James M. Cox was a man of very great ability. He made notable contributions to journalism and to his country."

Cox' son, James M. Cox Jr., a director of the Associated Press, said no organizational changes are contemplated among the Cox newspapers. He said: "We'll simply go along as we have been."

Besides James Jr., Cox is survived by his wife, Margaretta Cox, Dayton, his other son, John, New Rochelle, N. Y.; two daughters, Mrs. Barbara Glover, Honolulu, and Mrs. Anne Chambers, Atlanta, Ga.; and five grandchildren.

apartment also turned up a tray that fitted into the death trunk.

Postal Clerk Tells

The bizarre mystery started unraveling yesterday after a postal clerk came forward to say he had helped move the tin trunk from Polakowski's apartment to a railway express agency office the day after the slaying.

The clerk, Jose Padro, 25, said he had no idea of the trunk's grisly contents. Polakowski told him it contained books, sheet music and records for shipment to an actor pal in Hollywood. Later, a shipping clerk noticed a peculiar odor coming from the trunk. He called police. Malloy's corpse was found doubled up inside the trunk. There were three bullet holes in the body. The wounds, mouth and nose were sealed with adhesive tape, apparently to bar bleeding.

The body was clad only in shorts.

Met at Drama School

Padro said he met Polakowski 2½ years ago when both were attending a Broadway drama school. Later Polakowski became an elevator operator in a Fifth Avenue apartment house.

Police also questioned a pretty brunette, Patricia Cunningham of (Astoria) Queens, who said Polakowski made a date with her for 7:30 p. m. Friday, the night of the killing. He did not show up, she said, but called again about 10:30 p. m. to say he had been delayed.

Miss Cunningham was quoted by police as saying he finally arrived about 11 p. m. and appeared "jittery and nervous." Malloy, who came here from Philadelphia eight months ago, was a snappy dresser who rented a room in a 20-story apartment house on Central Park West. He was seen leaving the building about 9 the night of his death.

Observer Sorry Scouts Can't Remain With Joys and Dreams

Valley Forge, Pa., July 16 (AP)—"If you want to know how I really feel," said the tidy little man with the scholarly ways, "I'm rather sorry these boys can't stay as they are, with their joys, their vitality, their dreams."

The fine July night was getting on and over the 1,500 acres of the Boy Scouts' jamboree city campfire lights were twinkling out. Most of the more than 53,000 Scouts were asleep, replenishing for today's round of sports, demonstrations, sight-seeing tours and the less formal activities.

Time for Confidences

But some of their elders were still awake, pleasantly philosophical and a bit sentimental, too. It was a time for confidences, for showing more of one's emotions than is generally considered circumspect.

"I suppose there are times when we are all pretty much fed up with the adult world," the little man went on. "It's not only that we seem to make a mess of things, again and again, never learning our lessons, but that we appear dimly disillusioned and not, as a rule, quite sincere."

"What I'm trying to say is that these boys have something we all need in our lives. You can't be in this camp a half hour without sensing it. Immature many of the Scouts may be, but they are all superbly alive, just as we all ought to be."

"I'm no cynic," said a newspaperman, "yet I shudder to think what the grown-up way of doing things is going to do to some of these kids. Come to think of it, maybe I was like this, once."

The professional man spoke gently: "That puts me in mind of what Andre Gide said: 'If we could recapture the uncompromising spirit of youth our greatest indignation would be at what we have become.'"

Can't Get the Point

A scoutmaster had his say: "Some of the people back home often need me about scouting."

They can't understand why a business or professional man wants to go in for this sort of thing. Their idea of helping the boys is to donate a few dollars every year. There's no way of getting across to them what they're missing."

Yesterday was rallying day for the scouts and their leaders of many of the eastern states. Men in high places came and spoke to the boys, shared their chow, sat down with them and tried to close the gap of the years.

One of the speakers, Major Gen. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, adjutant general of Pennsylvania, asserted:

"I consider this jamboree the cradle of decency and of the kind of Americanism which forms the basic philosophy of this country."

"I urge you scouts to take the opportunity to exert your influence and to help mold the pattern of tomorrow's world."

Somewhat high-falutin for the boys, but jamboree visitors agreed with the drift of the talk. Clean and strong and fun-loving, the scouts await their turn in a more brutal arena; and, in the view of many who have observed them at this jamboree, maybe the stuff that scouting has put into them will make the future easier to bear.

Asks for Mayflower

Washington, July 16 (AP)—A Michigan senator has asked sponsors of the Mayflower II to send the ship through the St. Lawrence Seaway as a prelude to the opening of the waterway in 1959.

Republican Sen. Charles E. Potter said yesterday the first reaction of Warwick Charlton, one of the sponsors, was "very enthusiastic." Charlton is to discuss the proposal with trustees of the Mayflower project in London, the senator said.

The Mayflower II, a reproduction of the Pilgrim ship, recently traced the route of the Pilgrims from England to Plymouth, Mass. It later sailed along the New England coast to New York.

Olive Tablet Is Dedicated to Bell

A tablet dedicated to Sheriff Claude Bell, who served the town of Olive as supervisor from 1946 to 1957, was unveiled at a recent meeting of the town board of the town and has been hung in the town municipal building.

The tablet dedicated "in grateful acknowledgement" was presented in appreciation for the construction of the town building which was erected during the term of Sheriff Claude Bell as supervisor. Located on the Watson Hollow road off the Ashokan South Boulevard, the town building at West Shikan houses the town offices and other town facilities.

Inscribed on the plaque are the words:

"This tablet is dedicated in grateful acknowledgement to Claude Bell as a permanent expression of our appreciation for the construction of this Municipal Building during his tenure of office as Supervisor of the Town of Olive from 1946 to 1957. The Official Town Board 1957."

The tablet was presented on behalf of the town board by Justice of the Peace Frank C. Carle to the citizens of the township at a meeting of the board on June 20. At the meeting was Supervisor Lester S. Davis and all members of the town board.

Two Are Fined $250 On Obscene Books

Buffalo, N. Y., July 16 (AP)—Two wholesale magazine distributors have been fined $250 each in city court on charges of possessing obscene magazines.

The convictions yesterday were the first in a drive against "girlie" magazines by the city youth board. Similar charges against 30 newsstands and retail stores are pending.

The companies are the American News Co. and the Empire State News Corp.

City Judge Frank A. Sedita delayed payment of the fines for 30 days. Empire's attorney said he would appeal the case to the State Supreme Court.

The American News attorney said that his company was dropping distribution of magazines on a national level July 31 and that he did not know if he would appeal.

The alleged obscene magazines were confiscated in a police raid on the offices of both companies.

Airlines Hostess Is Found Dead in Student's Trailer

Kansas City, July 16 (AP)—A pretty airlines hostess was found dead in the trailer house of an osteopathic student, here late yesterday.

The cause of Miss Lucienne Colbrant's death was not known. An autopsy will be performed on the body of the 27-year-old Trans World Airlines' employee, probably today.

Billy M. Sartin, 32-year-old junior at the Kansas City College of Osteopathy and Surgery, was held for investigation.

Sartin, of Oswego, Kan., told police he had known Miss Colbrant, a native of Brussels, Belgium, for a month. He said he examined her at his trailer Sunday and found that she was about four months pregnant. Sartin denied that an illegal operation was performed on Miss Colbrant.

He said the woman stayed Sunday night at his trailer. She was dead when he awoke yesterday morning, Sartin said.

• BRIDGE 'Back-In' Bids Useful at Times

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The back-in or balancing bid is made at your second turn. You pass the first time because you fear to overcall immediately. Later, when the opponents have shown weakness you bid at a higher level but with safety since by now you have marked your partner with a lot of the missing strength.

I usually don't like such bids. If my hand is worth a bid I want to get it in early but once in a while a perfect hand for such action comes along.

Such a hand was sent me by Dr. Edward Cailleateau of Baton Rouge.

He did not like an immediate double of East's one heart bid since he had no preparation for diamonds and he did not want to overcall on a four-card suit.

Hence his first bid was a pass.

When West raised to two hearts and East dropped the bidding the doctor felt that a two-spade bid was well in order. His partner had to have some high cards because with 25 high card points the enemy would not have stopped at two hearts. Furthermore, his partner had to be short in hearts and almost surely would have several spades.

Hence Dr. Cailleateau bid two spades with great confidence. He did not particularly like it when his partner jumped him to four. At least he did not like it until he saw the dummy.

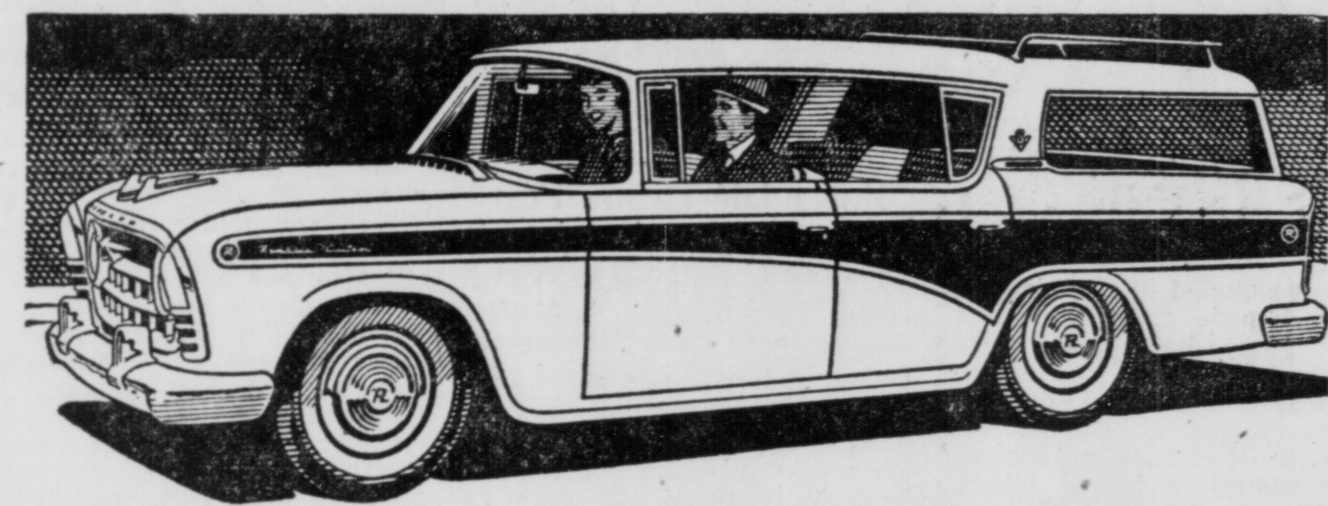

Dummy's five trumps made up for the fact that Doc only held four. Dummy had a singleton heart as expected and, most important of all, dummy held the right king.

Because the dummy fitted so well and trumps broke two-two the doctor had no trouble making his contract with one over-trick.

Briefly Told

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 16 (P)—Patrolman Benjamin Bialy, chauffeur for city police commissioners for 29 years, figures he has driven 500,000 miles in that period without an accident.

No off-duty driving for Bialy, though. He doesn't own a car.

Binghamton, N. Y., July 16 (P)—A 26-year-old housewife is working as vacation relief this summer in an office job she had to quit five years ago because she was going blind.

Mrs. Fred P. Davidson Jr. of nearby New Milford, Pa., did lose her sight. But she regained it as a result of four major operations. Now she is back to work as a stenographer-typist for her old employer, a credit company.

The Binghamton Lions Club and the Borough of Hallstead helped pay for the operations. The Davidsons were married in 1955 and have a year-old son, Mark.

Washington, July 16 (P)—New York's Republican Sens. Irving M. Ives and Jacob K. Javits joined Pennsylvania's Sens. Edward Martin (R) and Joseph S. Clark Jr. (D) yesterday in co-sponsoring a bill to extend social security benefits to employees of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission and the Port of New York Authority.

Albany, N. Y., July 16 (P)—Albany will ask the Civil Aeronautics Administration for financial aid in construction of an airlines terminal building and in other improvements at the Albany Municipal Airport.

The cost of the project is estimated $2,350,000.

The Common Council decided last night to apply under the Federal Aid Airport program. Under the program, the Federal government would pay half of the cost and the municipality the other half.

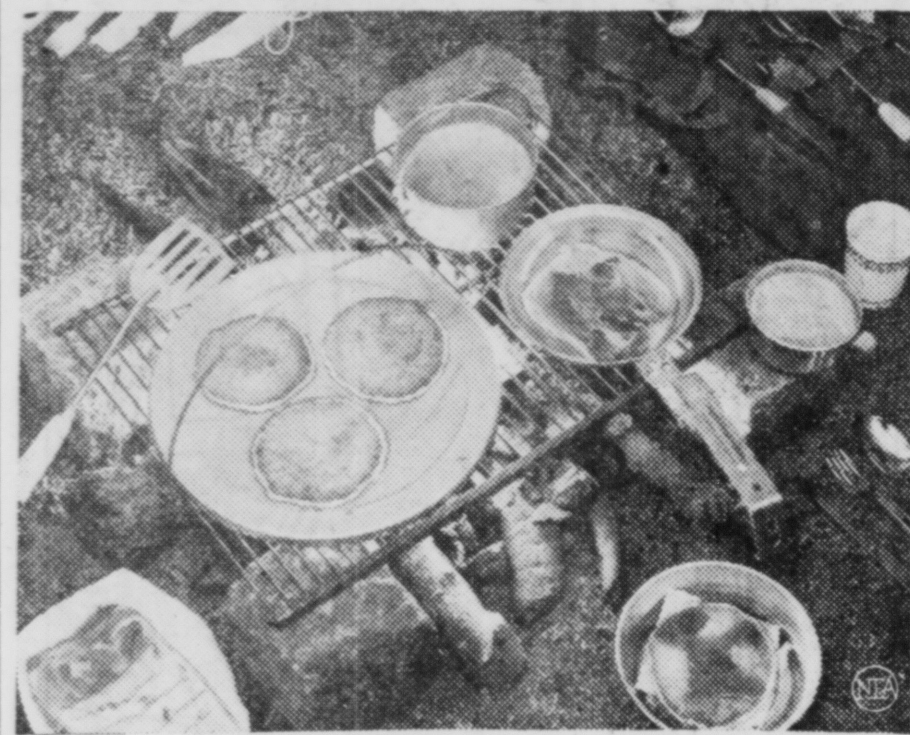

Four major airlines operate from the airport.

New Treatment Helps

Philadelphia, July 16 (P)—Two pediatricians have described a new type of treatment for nephrosis, a dread kidney disease in children, that reduces the mortality rate from 50 to 20 per cent. They said "encouraging and impressive reduction of the former high mortality rate resulting from childhood nephrosis" is now possible through the use of steroid hormones. The doctors described these hormones as chemicals from the small glands on top of the kidneys. The announcement was made yesterday by Dr. Milton Rapoport and Dr. Wallace W. McCrory, staff members at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia and also by the Nephrosis Foundation of Philadelphia. The new treatment is the result of a three-year period of research supported by the foundation.

Pancakes Rule Supreme With Boy Scout Cooks

OUTDOOR MEAL prepared by Boy Scouts consist of pancakes and ham and cheese made into double-deck sandwiches.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Cookouts and overnights are favorite activities of Boy Scouts because it helps them to earn merit badges and honors.

We learned that one of their favorite recipes for breakfast cookouts is ham and cheese pan sandwiches. Slices of Swiss cheese and boiled ham alternating between layers of golden brown pancakes are guaranteed to satisfy "man-sized" appetites. Plenty of hot maple or maple-blended syrup is a must.

Charles E. Beck of Lansing, Ill., father of two Scouts and Scout leader of a group of 12, gave us this information based on his experience.

"Part of camping," according to our expert, "is teaching these junior citizens how to pitch a tent, to build a campfire as well as to cook their own meals. The boys learn fast about using easy-to-carry foods with many uses. Pancake mix is a favorite."

Ham and Cheese Pan Sandwiches (2 servings)

Pancakes: One cup milk, 1 egg, 1 cup pancake mix, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 2 slices boiled ham, 2 slices Swiss cheese, maple or maple-blended syrup.

For the pancakes, place milk, egg, pancake mix and melted butter in shaker or glass jar. Shake vigorously 10 to 15 times or until batter is fairly smooth. Pour about 1/3 cup batter for each pancake onto a hot, lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once. While pancakes are baking, fry ham slices. Stack 3 pancakes: With cheese on one, and ham on the other and top with third. Serve with syrup.

Note: One cup diluted evaporated milk may be substituted for fresh milk.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Blended tomato and clam or grapefruit juice, fried ham, pancakes, butter or margarine, raw vegetable salad, cantaloupe filled with ice cream, coffee, tea, milk.

Canadian Cement Ruled Out for State Projects

Albany, N. Y., July 16 (P)—The state Public Works Department has ruled out the use of Canadian cement in stalled state highway projects, but firms are importing the material for use in non-state projects.

About half the nation's cement production has been stopped by a strike of the United Cement and Lime and Gypsum Workers Union.

Eighty-three state highway construction projects have been slowed or stopped because of the nationwide cement shortage.

A Plattsburgh firm, A. Mason Lumber Co., said it began buying Canadian cement when its stock of American cement ran out. There were reports in Buffalo of sizeable deliveries of Canadian cement crossing the Peace Bridge at Niagara Falls.

Can't Meet Requirements

A public works department official said yesterday that Canadian cement was contrary to the contract specifications, and did not meet construction requirements.

He said builders had contracted with American suppliers for the cement to be used on state projects and might face legal action if they purchased cement from Canada.

On the national level, contractors were reported paying from 8 to 77 per cent more than pre-strike prices for cement. Much of the increase was apparently the cost of freight charges on purchases from sources in the Midwest, West and Canada.

Ten cement plants in New York state have been closed by the strike. In addition to 2,175 idle cement workers, other workers are idle because of the lack of cement.

VA Claims Older Men Helped by Hospital Program

Washington, July 16 (P)—New rehabilitation treatments are enabling many "severely disabled" oldsters to leave Veterans Administration hospitals, and in some cases go to work, the VA said today.

A VA spokesman said the technique has been effective on victims of strokes, hardening of the arteries, arthritis, multiple sclerosis and other conditions. Most of them otherwise would have lived out their remaining years in the hospitals, he said.

Dr. A. B. C. Knudson, director of the physical medicine and rehabilitation service at the VA central office here, said the program has been applied to aging veterans who could not get out of bed without assistance, to others who could not use wheelchairs, and to some who were "too confused" to get about the hospital alone.

Knudson said an individual program of rehabilitation was laid out for each veteran-patient after maximum benefits had been gained by medical and surgical treatments.

Physical, corrective and occupational therapy, "along with visits of volunteers from the community helped the oldsters gain interest in living and in making friends," Knudson said.

To Hear Convicted

Albany, N. Y., July 16 (P)—Gov. Harriman will hold clemency hearings tomorrow for Angelo LaMarca, kidnaper-slayer of baby Peter Weinberger, and two other convicted murderers. The other two are Raphael Bonilla of the Bronx, who shot a man and his wife last year, and Miguel Santiago of Manhattan, who slew his girl friend in 1956. Earlier this month, the Court of Appeals, the state's highest tribunal, upheld the convictions of all three men. They are in the

LEGAL NOTICES

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE AND RESTRICT THE LOCATION OF TRADING AND INDUSTRIAL BUILDINGS DESIGNED FOR SPECIFIC USES, ETC., KNOWN AS THE ZONING ORDINANCE, APPROVED BY THE MAYOR, AUGUST 8, 1928. Be it Ordained by the Common Council of the City of Kingston, New York, as follows:

Section 1. That an Ordinance to regulate and restrict the location of trading and industrial buildings, known as the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Kingston, be amended as follows:

That the following described parcel of land be included in the BUSINESS ZONE and that the building zone maps, a part of the aforesaid ordinance, be amended to include said parcels of land within said BUSINESS ZONE.

ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND situate on the southerly side of Hurley Avenue, in the City of Kingston, in the County of Ulster, and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at the corner of the stone walls, at the northeasterly corner of lands of Phyllis M. Milliken, formerly Philip Woolsey, and runs from thence along the stone wall on the northerly bounds of said lands North 54° 55' west 147.50 feet to an iron bar driven in the ground, thence South 20° 20' west 335.00 feet to an iron bar driven in the ground, thence along said side of Hurley Avenue, south 61° 40' East 180.00 feet to an iron bar driven in the ground, thence South 20° 20' west 335.00 feet to an iron bar driven in the ground, in the line of an old stone wall, and on the westerly bounds of lands of Blandina M. Smith, thence along said bounds southwesterly, 335.00 feet more or less, "to a small pine tree" on the bounds of lands now or formerly of Harry W. Stickle, thence continuing along the same line and said bounds 6.00 feet to an angle point, thence continuing along said bounds in a southeasterly direction 407.00 feet to a point in the stone wall on the easterly bounds of the said Phyllis M. Milliken, thence northeasterly along the stone wall on said bounds of Milliken 110 feet more or less to the place of beginning. Containing about 3.86 acres. Bearings given herein are magnetic of June 1941.

BEING a portion of the first parcel described in a deed from William Scott Smith and Blandina T. Smith to Aaron Cohen and Raphael Cohen, dated April 8, 1909, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber 419 of Deeds, at page 129, and having been devised to the grantor herein in and by the Last Will and Testament of the said Aaron Cohen heretofore admitted to probate in the Surrogate's Court of Ulster County.

Being the same premises conveyed by deed dated the 29th day of August, 1941, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on the same date, in Book of Deeds 619, at page 531.

EXCEPTING the following: A parcel of land, situate in the City of New York, or the New York State Thruway Authority, for highway purposes.

Section 2. This Ordinance shall be published twice in each of the official newspapers of the City of Kingston, and shall take effect immediately following such publication.

Submitted to the Mayor by the City Clerk this 3rd day of July, 1957.

Seven Are Killed In Headon Crash Of Automobiles

York, Pa., July 16 (AP)—Seven persons, three men and four women, were killed today in a headon collision of two automobiles on the Lincoln Highway, U. S. 30, about four miles west of York. Two other persons were injured.

State policeman Paul Petzar identified the dead as:

Dean Diehl, 23, R.D. 2, East Berlin; his father, George E. Diehl, 50, R.D. 1, Abbottstown; Martha Glatfelter, 50, Abbottstown; Norman Sauer, Hanover; Elsie L. Klinedinst, Hanover; Naomi L. Rudisill, Hanover; and Delta Hoke, 52, Abbottstown.

The injured were Dean Diehl's wife, Mary, 23, internal injuries and a compound fracture of the right leg, and Esther A. Noll, 51, Hanover, internal injuries.

Dean Diehl was driving his father, wife and the Glatfelter and Hoke women to work. The others were en route home from work with Sauer.

Three men and three women died instantly in the crash along U. S. 30. The Hoke woman died about two hours later in West Side Hospital of York.

York county state police said this probably was the highest death toll in that county in a single accident, however, state records show that eight were known to have died in one accident last year in Lawrence county.

Dr. Lester Sell, York county coroner, said Diehl probably lost control of his car when bright sun shined into his face as he traveled along the straight, three-lane road.

Both cars were demolished but neither vehicle caught fire after the crash.

Frank Casciaro Passes Insurance Examinations

It was announced today by Roland A. Augustine Insurance Agency, that Frank L. Casciaro, had recently completed his studies at the Insurance Agents and Brokers School at Bethlehem Central School, Delmar, and had been advised by the N. Y. Insurance Department that he had passed his general insurance examinations.

Mr. Casciaro, who is associated with the Roland A. Augustine Agency, is now licensed to write all lines of insurance and will continue to act as manager of the Life Insurance Department. He will also assist in servicing and selling of general insurance.

Mr. Augustine was previously associated with the local office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for four years.

Mr. Augustine's announcement also indicated that the licensing of Mr. Casciaro is a further step toward the expansion of his agency on the basis of broadening sales and services to the people of this area.

Explains Maritime Stand

Washington, July 16 (AP)—The head of the Office of Defense Mobilization (ODM) today said he is interested in the future of the Maritime Administration's long range shipbuilding program, ODM Chief Gordon Gray made the statement in a letter made public by Rep. Tolleson (R-Wash.), assuring the congressman that a recent reference to a reduction in maritime's "war-time shipbuilding program" did not refer to the long range program. "I was referring only to those cargo ships, tankers and other vessels which would furnish logistical support to our armed forces, and would be constructed by the Maritime Administration during a mobilization period," Gray wrote. "In no way did I intend to convey any reference to the long range shipbuilding program of the Maritime Administration."

Say Strike Ended

Chicago, July 16 (AP)—Chicago's Railway Express Agency drivers were reported by two Chicago newspapers today to have reached agreement to end their three month strike in a dispute over wages. The strike also has involved drivers in six other cities, with about 3,500 workers off the job since last April 21. Drivers in the other cities also are voting on a proposal to end the walkout. The Tribune and Sun-Times said the 1,000 members of the Chicago Teamsters Union Local 720 voted unanimously to accept the Railway Express Agency's latest offer which grants them a total of 29 cents an hour wage increase.

Old Tonto Dies

Detroit, July 16 (AP)—John Todd, who played Tonto on the Lone Ranger radio serial nearly two decades, is dead. A teacher of speech and dramatics at the Detroit Music Conservatory since live radio broadcasts of the Lone Ranger were discontinued about two years ago, Todd died Sunday at a Detroit Hospital. He was 80. He was the only regular portrayer of the Lone Ranger's trusted Indian companion during the more than 2,500 half-hour radio shows sent out on the network from Detroit's WXYZ (ABC). The role on television now is played by Jay Silverheels.

Gramps Actor Dies

Burbank, Calif., July 16 (AP)—George Cleveland, 71, veteran actor best known in recent years as Gramps on the "Lassie" television show, died Monday. He was born in Sydney, Nova Scotia.

Found Guilty Of Selling Beer To Young Boy

A city court jury yesterday returned a verdict of guilty against Michael Kalousdian, grocer of 190 Broadway, who was tried on a charge dealing with a violation of the ABC law. The count dates back to May, and it was held that the defendant had sold six cans of beer to a 13-year-old boy.

Kalousdian said he did not recall ever seeing the boy, nor did he remember the specific sale involved. A friend of the boy testified that he had been with him in the store on other occasions, but not at the time of the reported sale of beer.

The jury of five women and one man returned the verdict after deliberating for about 20 minutes.

Imposition of sentence was put over by Special City Judge Harry Gold until Wednesday. The trial started on June 28, but a panel of jurors was exhausted after four were selected on that date, and the case was put over until Monday.

Attorney Hubert A. Richter appeared for the defendant, and John E. Gotelli represented the district attorney's office.

96-Page Letter

Washington, July 16 (AP)—Many people write to their congressmen, but an Ohio man used up 96 pages in a handwritten letter to express his views. The letter was sent to Rep. Ashley (D-Ohio), by Niles Wittenbrook of Alliance, Ohio, a city in the district of Rep. Bow (R-Ohio). The letter covers numerous federal issues. It required 12 cents postage.

Craig Up to $38,000

New York, July 16 (AP)—Harold Craig, 26-year-old dairy farmer from Granville, N. Y., boosted his quiz show winnings to $38,000 last night on NBC-TV's "Twenty-One." Craig played two games against Richard Klein of New York, a fund-raising campaign director. The first ended in a 17-17 tie. Craig won a 21-0 victory at $1,000 a point in the second game. The dairy farmer had won $17,000 previously. He will return to the show next Monday and announce whether he will try for more.

Girl Dies of Wounds

Terre Haute, Ind., July 16 (AP)—Nine-year-old Regina Whitaker died yesterday from gunshot wounds suffered in a shooting which claimed the lives of her mother and brother less than a year after the father had swapped wives with a friend. Regina had been in critical condition at Union Hospital here since the shooting on June 25. Her father, Thomas Whitaker, a 36-year-old truck driver, is in Vigo County Hospital charged with murdering his ex-wife, Mrs. Alma L. Martin, 36, and his 11-year-old son, Jack Whitaker.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON
JUDGE-MADE CHAOS

Two Army wives, living abroad, murdered their husbands. Each was found guilty by court-martial.

But was the trial Constitutional? Yes, said the Supreme Court a year ago. Now it says NO. The murderers go free. Now judges have the right to change their minds, but who changed the Constitution?

MR. HUTTON

In the light of this case, the saying that "The Constitution is what the Supreme Court says it is" appears to be the nonsense that it always has been. It was the same case; same murderers; same facts. Nothing had changed except that two new Judges had joined the Court.

Now, as A. Lincoln said respecting the Dred Scott case in 1858, there being no higher court, as a practical matter, its judgment is final as to the parties to the case. Right or wrong, they are stuck with it.

But the Constitution does not say that its judgments are the supreme law of the land, binding on everybody. Lincoln said he would not be bound by the Dred Scott decision.

President Jackson had said the same thing with respect to another famous case.

When the Court acts as judges only; upholds settled law and stays within its proper bounds, its decisions deserve respect and are generally followed.

But the Court is hurting itself when eager beavers overrule long-settled law and become a super Congress, or a super Constitutional Convention.

Neighbor, it has no law-making authority.

LOOK OUT—Appearing to be heading for a mid-air collision over bustling Chicago, two U.S. Air Force Thunderbird jets roar toward each other at a speed of 10 miles a minute. Actually, it's just an optical illusion, for the planes are in different air lanes, with enough space between them to make the air show a thoroughly safe one. A team of four Thunderbirds put on a thrilling display of skill and speed for thousands who watched from below.

Child Fatally Shot

Virginia, Minn., July 16 (AP)—An 18-year-old youth, angered, police said, because his parents shut off a record player, fatally shot his 4-year-old sister and critically wounded his mother last night. His father suffered minor wounds and another sister was injured as she attempted to disarm him. Police Lt. Ernest Johnson said the youth, William Niemi Jr., whom he described as a "problem boy" recently released from a state training school, admitted firing on his family with a pistol and a shotgun. The 4-year-old child, Mary, was slain in her bedroom crib "because she was screaming all the time."

Blowing Air Into Lungs Called Best Method on Revival

Buffalo, N. Y., July 16 (AP)—Blowing air directly into the lungs of a drowning or shock victim has been called the best method of artificial respiration by three medical researchers.

They said last night that experiments here and at Baltimore City Hospital have proved the mouth-to-mouth method "infinitely superior" to other methods, including the back-pressure arm-lift system.

Dr. James Elam of Buffalo said that on five of the ten subjects the back-pressure method failed to force any air into the lungs. Because of the subjects' heavy builds, he said, the tongue lodged against the rear of the throat and blocked the air passage.

He said the greatest advantage of the old but neglected mouth-to-mouth method is that it forces the rescuer to make sure the air passages are clear.

The back pressure method was successful on the other five subjects but it drew only one quarter of the air into the lungs that breathing directly into the mouth did.

Dr. Elam is director of the department of anesthesiology at Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo.

The other doctors are Dr. Peter Safar, chief of anesthesiology at Baltimore City Hospital, and Dr. David G. Greene, professor at the University of Buffalo. The group plans to publish its findings in medical journals.

Dr. Safar has designed a breathing tube intended to offset the rescuer's reluctance to contact the mouth of the victim. He pointed out however that in most cases it would not be at hand when needed.

In the experiments ended Saturday at Baltimore the ten volunteer victims, all doctors, were anesthetized. Their lung muscles were paralyzed by a drug and various methods of artificial respiration were tried.

Dr. Elam said each "victim" was resuscitated about sixty times. About 150 laymen, including Boy Scouts, were the "rescuers."

He said studies of artificial respiration have been going on for years, but this series was the first comparing the mouth-to-mouth method with the others.

Rogers Closes Office

Hollywood, July 16 (AP)—Roy Rogers, idol of millions of kiddies, said today he is shopping for an adult western series and has closed down his TV production office as a retrenchment move toward that goal. "Actually," Rogers told a reporter, "I don't know where they get this adult western tag. I've been watching some of my old movies on television and they're as adult as any of them." Roy said he closed his office at Goldwyn Studios because "it was just $4,000 a month going out the window."

Higgins Takes Command

Tokyo, July 16 (AP)—Rear Adm. J. M. Higgins took over today as chief of the U. S. Military Assistance Advisory Group (MAAG) in Japan. Higgins, who ordered the first navy shot fired in the Korean war, relieves Maj. Gen. William S. Biddle. Biddle becomes commanding general of the Army's 3rd Corps at Ft. Hood, Tex. Higgins is the first non-army officer to hold the MAAG post. He was formerly commandant of the 8th Naval District at New Orleans.

Cadillac

Where Value is Measured In Decades!

If, at this instant, the happy man you see here were able to foresee the whole future life of the wonderful car he has just purchased . . . he would very likely be amazed!

For the odds are that his Cadillac will travel literally hundreds of thousands of thrilling and eventful miles before it comes to journey's end.

And even after a full decade of service on the world's highways, it will, in all probability, still be bringing comfort and satisfaction to its proud and happy owner.

And consider, if you will, what a wonderful promise this extraordinary longevity holds for whatever length of time this gentleman elects to enjoy the car as his own.

It testifies, for instance, to his Cadillac's great quality . . . to its enduring styling . . . and to its extraordinary dependability.

And even more importantly, it speaks grandiloquently of the marvelous investment he has made!

In fact, over almost any normal span of ownership, a Cadillac will return its owner a greater share of his investment than any other car in the land.

Certainly, these unique Cadillac advantages deserve your personal investigation.

Your dealer will be happy to place a beautiful new 1957 Cadillac—with its marvelous Fleetwood coachcrafting—at your disposal at any time.

He will be delighted to give you full details on the Eldorado Brougham—and to explain the advantages in value and delivery that will be yours in selecting Cadillac today.

New Plays Tonight Offered by Summer Playhouse Groups

Eugene O'Neill's "Desire Under the Elms" opens tonight at the Woodstock Playhouse and will play through Sunday, July 21.

The play will star Dana Elcar, Carlton Colyer and Salome Jens.

It is a drama of three tragic heroes, characters of a New England farm that are earthly, primitive people. The play seeks to confer a heroic dignity on motives and deeds usually thought base and O'Neill's attempts to turn his tale of adultery and infanticide into something of a modern Oedipus where strong passions gain a kind of glory.

Curtain is at 8:30 p. m. OPENING TONIGHT also at the Phoenicia Playhouse will be "Dark of the Moon," a folk musical by Richardson and Bernet, considered by theatre historians as an American classic.

The play will feature John Ramondetta and Ann Hamilton as the leads. Mr. Ramondetta will play the witch boy from the Smokey mountains who wants to be human so he can marry Barbara Allen.

Curtain is at 8:30 p. m. In a report received from Paul Kieler, producer at the Phoenicia Playhouse, one of the paintings on display in the lobby by Udis Wakely was purchased by Mrs. Lindsey Hoyt of Phoenicia.

Second Band Concert Set for Wednesday

Marlin E. Morrette, conductor of the Kingston Municipal Band, has announced the program for the second concert of the season. The performance will be given Wednesday, 8 p. m. on the Academy Green.

Selections will include Hosta's March; Autumn Leaves by Kosma; The Gypsy Baron, Strauss; La Cumparsita, Rodriguez; Semper Fidelis March, Sousa; Vienna Dreams, Siczynski; Because of You, Hammerstein; Voodoo, Walters; and Stars and Stripes Forever, Sousa.

Miss Diane Ribenburg will appear with the band as twirler. Public is cordially invited to attend.

George Jessel Opens At Hyde Park; Show Top Entertainment

A sparse opening night audience at Hyde Park Playhouse Monday did not disturb George Jessel and his stellar group from presenting the sparkling bit of glorified vaudeville called "Show Time."

Displaying the showmanship known around the world, Mrs. Jessel's boy, Georgie took advantage of the light audience situation with adlibs which turned the audience reaction from sympathy to admiration.

During Jessel's time on the stage he reminisced through his earlier years and sang choruses of songs that highlighted these years.

He emphasized his ties with Al Jolson with vocal choruses of "Mammy" and other Jolson hits. These presentations were the musical highlights of the show. Surrounding Jessel in the production were a fine selection of performers including TV songstress Toni Carroll.

A dancing Toni Susanne and her escorts, offered some clever numbers in various shades of rhythm. Susanne, a blonde delight with talent belongs to the famous Casinno family of which Rita Hayworth is a member.

The show had almost everything including a female whistler, Clara Imas.

Background music and accompaniment was offered by Ben Oakland and Leo Arands.

Next week's offering will be Victor Jory and Irene Manning in Holiday for Lovers. Mr. Jory appears for the first time in a play with his own daughter. Holiday for Lovers opens Monday, July 22.

Saugerties Church Sets Vacation School August 12

The Rev. Richard I. Crossland, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Atonement, Saugerties has announced plans for a vacation church school to be held at the church for two weeks, beginning August 12.

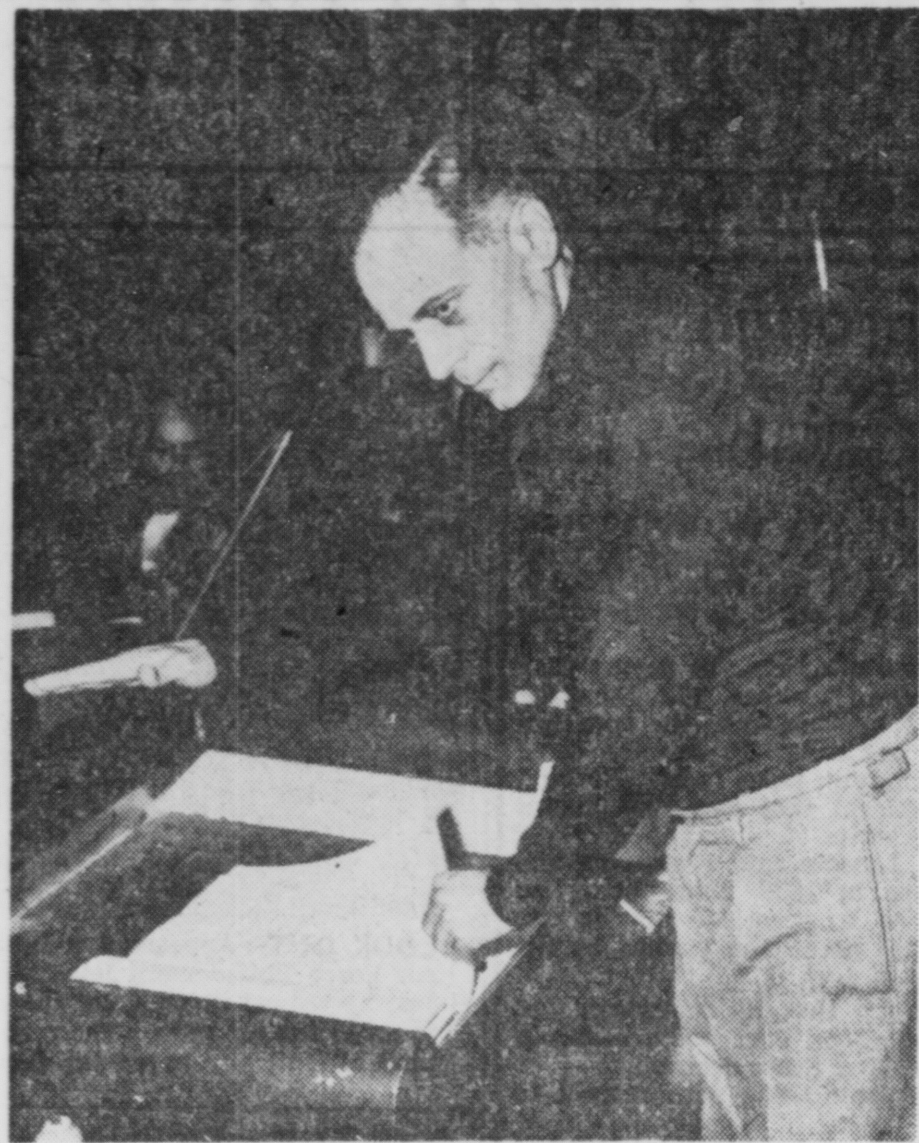

The school will begin at 9 a. m. and continue each morning, Monday through Friday, until noon.

The theme of this year's school will be "Bible Stories to Live By." The daily program will include stories, worship, games, refreshments, activities, and missionary study. There will also be a school worship period each day led by Pastor Crossland. During this period, color film strips will be used to help portray the bible story for the day.

At the conclusion of the school August 23, there will be a congregational and family night at 7 p. m., when the children of the school will display some of their handicrafts and also present a puppet show.

The school, for all children of the community, from three-years and up, has already received an advance enrollment of more than double any previous year, and the school promises to be a rich and rewarding experience for both the pupils and the staff, the pastor said. Members of the Sunday church school who need transportation to the vacation school will be picked up by volunteer drivers from the congregation.

Anyone desiring to enroll in the school may call any member of the staff. The staff includes: Mrs. Helen Hildebrandt, Mrs. Walter Rittie, Mrs. Durwood Swart, Mrs. Nancy Warns, Mrs. Henry Breitenbach, Mrs. Jean Crossland, Mrs. Hubert Legg, Mrs. Kenneth Hauck, Mrs. Evelyn Dussol, Mrs. Lars Risdal, Miss Carole Williams and Pastor Crossland.

MAESTRO LASZLO HALASZ

Laszlo Halasz Conducts Second Brilliant 'Elektra' Performance at Ellenville Fete

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

A powerful, brilliant, performance of Richard Strauss' opera, "Elektra," was given a full stage production for the second time this season at the Ellenville Music Festival Saturday.

This masterpiece in one act depicting violence and savagery received a tumultuous ovation from the capacity audience.

A final performance will be given Friday, 8:30 p. m.

Laszlo Halasz, who just returned from Italy after a most successful debut at the Bellini Festival in Sicily, conducted with brilliance.

VIRGINIA COPELAND, cast as the tormented daughter of a murdered King bent upon avenging his death, was magnificent. She gave a moving interpretation to the part and her voice was rich in quality and volume.

Apart from the difficult demands made upon Miss Copeland's voice, she also accomplished the grueling feat of remaining on stage for an entire performance. This, in itself, is a test of a performer's acting ability, which, in this reporter's opinion, she passed with honors.

Miss Copeland is perhaps better known for her role in Menotti's "The Saint of Bleeker Street." After Saturday night's performance, however, those who did not know of Miss Copeland's fine singing abilities will not soon forget her.

Talking the part of Elektra's younger sister was Ellen Faulk whose performance was laudable. Her clear, unwavering soprano voice was refreshing and she ably interpreted the role of the sister who is weaker and cannot abide the thought of murdering her mother.

As the evil mother, Elizabeth Hoengen, German mezzo-soprano, handled the role as a veteran. Here was a performer of many years' experience who had the part perfected down to the flip of her long flowing cape. For Saturday's performance, Mark Elyn appeared as the foster father replacing Lee Cass.

Also appearing were Michael Bondon as Orestes, Nathaniel Sprinzena, Sophia Steffen, Helen Basley, Carol Rawlings, May MacKenzie, Ellen Alexander and Mary Judd.

LASZLO HALASZ, as many know, is the conductor appointed by the late New York Mayor Fiorello La Guardia to form the New York City Opera Company. He organized the company with a modern approach to opera and one that would have respect for contemporary composers as well as contemporary standards of staging and operatic acting. His plans were progressive and they worked well.

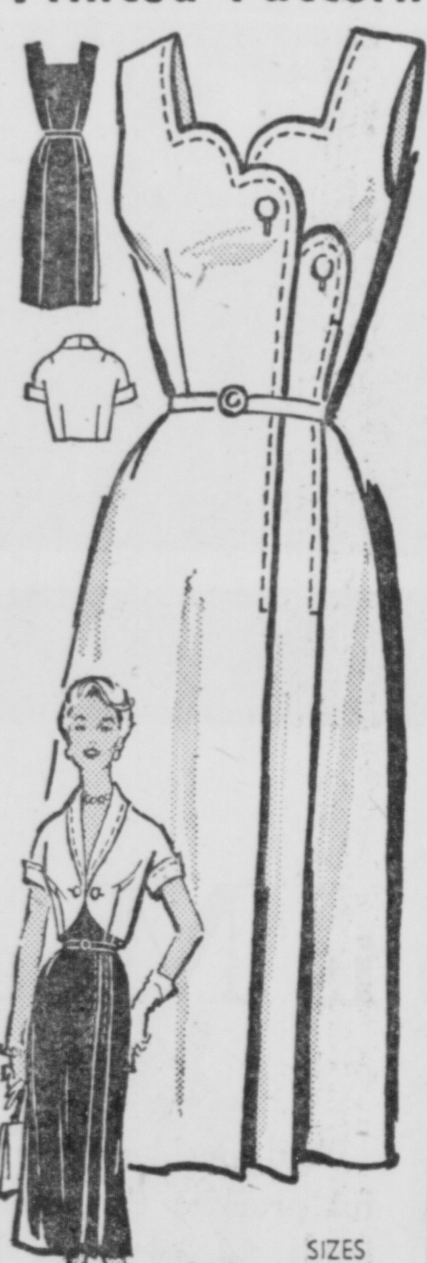

Many now famous singers who started with Maestro Halasz included Dorothy Kirsten, Regina Resnik, Herva Nelli, Martha Lipton, Ramon Vinay, Frank Guerrero, Eugene Conly and Walter Casvel. These people went on to the Metropolitan and to successes in the most important opera houses in Europe.

Maestro Halasz was born in Debrecen, Hungary and studied at the Academy of Music in Budapest. He was graduated in 1928 with degrees as pianist, composer and conductor.

In 1935 and 1936, after an already brilliant career, Halasz was appointed assistant to Bruno Walter and Arturo Toscanini at Salzburg. The priceless experience he gained working with these two greatest of modern masters in the preparation of two seasons of opera made it inevitable that his name should become known to the United States.

For those music lovers who would like to hear and see an awe inspiring modern opera, this reporter strongly recommends they attend the final performance of "Elektra" on Friday.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

THANKS FOR AN UNEXPECTED PRESENT

Dear Mrs. Post: Quite often I have heard people say, and it has been said to me on occasion, "Oh, Jane why did you do this," or "Mary, you shouldn't have done this" when handed a present. It never fails to irritate me when I hear it and I certainly do not think it in good taste. If a person didn't want to give you a present she wouldn't do it so why not just accept it with thanks without making any comment. I would very much appreciate what you think about this.

Answer: Simple thanks and an enthusiastic comment about how lovely the present is, would be in best taste. But I do not think you should let a spontaneous "Oh, you shouldn't have done this" irritate you.

When R.S.V.P. is Unanswered

Dear Mrs. Post: What is one to do when people do not have the courtesy to answer invitations that include R.s.v.p. Even when an invitation is to a general type of party (cocktail, tea, etc.) shouldn't they be answered if an answer is requested?

Answer: Yes to your last question. If it is a general party for which the preparation usually can be quite flexible, you would simply assume that the unheard-from ones are coming. My suggestion, when necessary, would be to telephone and find out.

Should Gift Be Returned?

Dear Mrs. Post: Before my present marriage, I was engaged to another girl who died a month before we were to have been married. During my engagement to her I bought her a beautiful and expensive hope chest. It was not returned to me and of course I did not ask for its return. I have heard that the mother of this girl is going to give it to someone else. I think it is to be given to anyone I should get it. My wife could use it very nicely. Would it be proper for me to ask her for it, or is it rightfully hers to do with what she pleases?

Answer: It would have been thoughtful had the mother asked you if you would like to have the chest, but it is hers and I do not think you should ask for it.

Many people put off letter writing because they do not know how to express their thoughts. You will find booklet No. 502, "Etiquette of Writing," helpful. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Scout Activities At Valley Forge

By MARTIN KURDT

The production of the television show "Big Top" on the stage of the main arena, participation in the Section 10 camp fire Saturday evening, the entertainment of various families from the Council area, and the usual visiting and swapping were features on the Saturday program of the National Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa. for the local Rip Van Winkle Council troops.

At the Regional camp fire, Boy Scout Troop 12 Drum Corps opened the program with several selections, and "Indians" from the Half Moon Lodge 28, Order of the Arrow, of the local council presented an Indian dance. A group from Kingston Jamboree Troop 21, Kenneth Aalto, William Bodenweber, Philip Eighmey, Richard Showers, Philip Spada and Peter LeBoeuf, were featured in a skit.

Visitors from Kingston included the Skea, Kelly, Duffy, Knight and Eighmey families.

Monday the local troops will be taken on a conducted tour of Philadelphia, leaving the Jamboree in the morning and returning for supper. Following supper, the program scheduled includes a variety show at the main arena starring Bob Feller, former baseball pitcher, Lanny Ross, noted singer, and other famous names of stage and screen.

Kingston Bridge Vehicles Number 65,146: Report

Traffic for the month of June over the four bridges operated by the New York State Bridge Authority increased 8.11 per cent over traffic for the same month a year ago.

The Bear Mountain Bridge showed the largest increase of 5.93 per cent. There were 154,066 vehicles using the Bear Mountain Bridge in June this year compared to 145,440 last year.

The Rip Van Winkle Bridge had an increase of 4.04 per cent. There were 151,775 vehicles this year compared to 145,874 last year.

The Mid-Hudson Bridge had a decrease of 7.07 per cent. The Mid-Hudson Bridge had 342,957 vehicles this year compared to 369,079 last year.

The Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge had 65,146 vehicles this year.

Increase on Ferry

During the month of June this year the Newburgh-Beacon ferry had 43,993 vehicles compared to last June's traffic figure of 42,084. This was an increase of 4.53 per cent.

The Bridge Authority held a meeting in Poughkeepsie Friday and Chairman John S. Stillman made known that the Authority agreed to terms of Budget Director Paul Appleby for repaying the one million dollar loan to the Authority to cover the cost of the acquisition of real estate for the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge. The details of the agreement cannot be revealed as the agreement must be approved by the Attorney General and the State Comptroller. Acquisition of rights of ways for the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge is progressing very well.

At the meeting the Authority also approved the contract for placing new blacktop dressing on the Bear Mountain Bridge. The contract will be sent to Albany where it will be advertised. The work is expected to be completed this fall.

New York (NEA) — Stripes, narrow or wide, take to full-skirted dresses for summer.

Because of manipulation, these stripes are anything but banal. In shirtwaist dresses or in sleeveless dresses with back interest, they have a fresh and lively look. Some of them are cinched at the waistline by leather contour belts in matching or contrasting colors.

In many of the summer collections, these full-skirted dresses offer something new:

the deep hem. Long confined to more expensive dresses, the deep hem appears in moderately priced fashions now. It makes any dress hang better and is particularly pretty in delicate or sheer fabrics.

Back interest in a boldly striped dress (left) is achieved through bloused back with yoke and bow trim. This is an imported cotton in blue and white.

Chalk stripes (right) are used for shirtwaist dress in Dacron and cotton. The black of the patent-leather belt is picked up by black shoestring trim on collar and sleeves. Both designs are by L'Aiglon.

Double Ring Wedding Is Held at St. Mary's For Patricia Keefe and Joseph Magnino Jr.

MRS. JOSEPH MAGNINO JR.

On Saturday, July 6 at 11 a. m. before a Nuptial Mass in St. Mary's Church, Miss Patricia June Keefe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Keefe of 114 Foxhall avenue, became the bride of Joseph James Magnino Jr., son of Joseph Magnino of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Gertrude Magnino of 96 Johnston avenue.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony and celebrant of the Mass was the Rev. Edward Farrelly.

Theodore Riccobono was at the organ and Martin Kelly was the soloist.

White gladioli and daisies decorated the church for the occasion.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. It was styled with a fitted bodice, Sabrina neckline outlined with seed pearls, and a bouffant skirt of lace and tulle ending in a chapel length train. A circlet of orange blossoms and seed pearls held the bride's fingertip French illusion veil and she carried a white prayer book with white orchids and a cascade of swansonia.

Mrs. Edward C. Decker, cousin of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of white nylon eyel over a Romance blue slip of taffeta. Her headpiece was a matching scroll leaf band which held a circular veil. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and blue swansonia.

Serving as attendants were Miss Elaine E. Elgo, Miss Ann E. Frye, and Mrs. James Begany. Their gowns were similar to that worn by the honor attendant except they were worn over blue slips. They carried baskets of blue and white daisies with Rapture roses.

Edward C. Decker of 9 Stahlman place was best man for the bridegroom.

Ushers included Clarence S. Gregory, Thomas J. Fleming and DeForest Ballou.

A reception was held at The Barn for approximately 100 guests.

The bride holds a BS degree from State University of New York at New Paltz where she was a member of Theta Phi Sorority. She is on the teaching staff of the Peekskill School System.

Her husband is a graduate of Norwich University, Northfield, Vt. He holds a BS in Bio-Chemistry and is now working on his MA at Columbia University. He is a member of Theta Chi Fraternity and is employed by IBM as a technical assistant in the Research and Engineering Liaison office. He holds the rank of captain in the U. S. Air Force Reserves.

For her wedding trip to Bermuda, the bride wore a beige linen sheath with matching jacket and accessories and a corsage of green orchids.

The couple will make their home in Ossining.

Boy Is Drowned

Raquette Lake, N. Y., July 16 (AP)—Fourteen-year-old John Clough of Pleasantville was drowned and a girl was injured early today when a rowboat they were using overturned in Raquette Lake. State police said the accident occurred at 4:20 a. m. Frank Potter of this Adirondack community recovered the boy's body from 14 feet of water. Shirley Laport, 14, of Raquette Lake, was taken to Mercy Hospital in Tupper Lake for treatment of an arm injury.

MODELS FOR WEST POINT MUSEUM—Bernhard Schulze of Port Ewen, who came to this country about three years ago from Hamburg, Germany, holds a model of a ballista, a type "artillery" of the 13th Century which he has carved on commission by the West Point Museum. On the table (l to r) are a trebuchet, an onaga, a springal and a catapult, all types of 13th Century artillery used in siege actions. Each of the models, exquisitely wrought according to specifications of that Medieval age, can actually be fired, as Mr. Schulze demonstrated for The Freeman. He has been working on the models, scaled 1:12, since the first of the year. He will also do about five more models of other types of similar artillery of that period for the museum. Mr. Schulze became a builder of models almost 30 years ago, learning the art in his spare time during voyages as a deckhand in the German merchant marine. He is also engaged in repairing a crossbow of the 17th Century for the West Point Museum and a model of a screw sloop, the USS Hartford, which was built in Boston in 1858, for the Hyde Park Museum. He is skilled in authentic ship models, architectural models, topographical dioramas, wood carvings, and the expert repair of antiques, China, etc. (Freeman photo)

Troy Golfers Dominate State Elks Tournament at Wiltwyck

Capture Both Titles, One in Extra Holes

Troy golfers dominated the second annual New York State Elks Association Junior championships Monday at Wiltwyck Country Club, winning the Senior and Junior crowns in the boys division.

John O'Connor, 17-year-old graduate of La Salle Academy, defeated Jerry Nedlik of Binghamton on the first extra hole of a sudden death playoff for the 15-to-18 title, after they had tied with 76s in regulation play.

John Passonno, 14, Troy, carded an 81 with nines of 38 and 43 to dethrone Mike Bruhn, the defending champion, in the under-15 division. Bruhn, the 1956 winner at Auburn, tied for sixth place with a 91. John Castrilli of Bath was runnerup with 45-42-87.

Only two girls competed in the 65-player field which represented 15 Elks lodges around the state. Mary Mac Callam, 17, of Port Jervis posted a 107 in the Senior group, while Gail Purdy, 14-year-old Glens Falls starlet, fashioned a 96 in the under-15 division.

Nedlik posted a one-under-par 35 on the front line but a string of bogies ballooned him to a 41 on the easier incoming nine. O'Connor, meanwhile, put together 39-37 for his 76.

Second Shot Decisive

The sudden death playoff ended abruptly on the first hole. Both got off long drives. O'Connor, a deliberate Cary Middlecoff-type player, was away. After what seemed endless deliberation and surveying, he blasted a perfect 7-iron shot nine feet from the pin. Nedlik, in better position for the approach, pushed his second shot into a trap. His weak recovery left him with a 30 foot putt. He gave it a gallant try but missed. O'Connor narrowly missed the birdie-3 and was left with a 1-footer he holed for the par 4 and the title.

Third place in the senior division was won by Duane Hayden of Huntington, L. I. in a three-way playoff with R. Weaver of Troy and Dennis Beaver of Kingston. Beaver posted a pair of 39s.

Ted Bruhn and Bill Parmelee of Kingston tied with 85s in this group. Bruhn carded 45-40 and Parmelee had 41-44.

Costello Cops Playoff
William (Buzzy) Costello survived a three-way playoff for third place in the under-15 section, carding a bogie-5 on the first hole to eliminate Ronnie Riggins of Kingston and G. Hartigan of Troy. The trio had tied with 90s.

Other Kingston scores in the 15-18 group were: David Eyles, 46-40-86; Richie Diers, 44-47-91; B. Gordon, 49-46-95. Lauren Beaver posted 47-46-93 in the under-15. Rich Barthel fired 45-49-94; Jay Gordon, 53-52-105.

The players, families and state officials were guests of Kingston Lodge of Elks at a banquet following the matches. Speakers included James B. Hanlon of Fulton, state chairman of Elks golf; Federal Judge John M. Cashin and Judge Louis G. Bruhn, honorary co-chairmen of the event. Prizes were awarded by Primo Montafia, local chairman. Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor, was the toastmaster.

Pickney Hanover Saratoga Choice

Saratoga Springs, July 16 (AP)—Pickney Hanover, holder of the season's record for juvenile trotting colts over a half-mile track, was favored to win the Raceway tonight.

The colt is among 10 starters in tonight's race, one of the features of Grand Circuit week at Saratoga.

Two drivers were injured last night in a three-horse accident during a pacing event on the opening program of the week. Carl Lamerton, 62, of Wadesboro, N. C., was thrown to the track when his horse, Say What, put a leg into the wheel of the sulky of Miss Fireball shortly after the start of the race. Say What fell. On the second time around the track, Carolyn H. Stumblon on the pile-up and her driver, Frank Joyce of Stillwater, also was thrown out.

Lamerton suffered a possible ankle fracture. Joyce suffered a sprained hand and abrasions. Don Bromley of Hudson Falls, driver of Miss Fireball, was not injured.

Althea Gibson Breezes to Win

Chicago, July 16 (AP)—Wimbledon champion Althea Gibson, determined to win her first major U. S. tennis title, put on a rousing performance yesterday in the first round of the National Clay Courts tournament.

The lanky star from New York city breezed past Lois Smith of Glenview, Ill., 6-0, 6-0, with grim determination. All seeded players eased to victory with the exception of Neal Fraser, the No. 2, foreign seed from New Zealand, who fell into trouble before disposing of Paul Wilkins of Beaumont, Tex., 4-6, 6-3 and 6-4.

Cards Tumble to Second

Phils Take Over Top Spot For First Time This Season

(By The Associated Press)
Real quick now, who HASN'T been in first place in that National League nonsense this season?

Only two clubs haven't been able to make it (New York's Giants and the Chicago Cubs) now that Philadelphia's long-frustrated Phillies have taken over by winning 12 of their last 14.

They moved in last night, grabbing a half game edge over St. Louis by chucking the Cardinals to second place with a 6-2 decision for rookie Jack Sanford's 12th victory, tops in the NL.

Dodgers on Streak
Brooklyn's Dodgers, also on the rebound, won their fourth in a row by battering Milwaukee 20-4 to climb within four percentage points of the third place Braves and within two games of the Phillies.

The Giants defeated the Cubs 5-3 in the only other game. In the American League the Washington Senators walloped Kansas City 10-3.

Sanford, a 28-year-old fast-balling right-hander who bummed around in the minors for seven years, joined castoff Jim Hearn with three victories in the Phillies' streak which has jumped them from fifth place, five games behind, since July 1.

Cards Get 5 Hits
All the Cards managed off Sanford was five hits, two by Al Dark, who tripled and scored the first run and homered for the other. Sanford struck out seven, padding his league leading total to 111.

The Phils swept the three-game set from the Cards with just six hits, but four were for extra bases. Willie Jones started it with a two-run homer in the third, then Ed Bouchee tripled and Gran Hamner and Chuck Harmon belted two-run doubles as the Phils bagged it in the fourth and chased Wilmer Mizell to his seventh defeat.

The Dodgers really had a ball, walloping 16 hits, five of them home runs, adding 10 bases on balls and scoring nine runs in the eighth on just five hits.

Charlie Neal hit two of the Brook home runs and drove in three runs along with Sandy Amoros, Sandy Snider and Don Drysdale, who won his seventh but needed Ed Roubuck's relief in the seventh, hit the others.

The Braves used five pitchers, starting with loser Bob Trowbridge and finishing with Taylor Phillips, who absorbed the eighth-inning embarrassment.

Covington, Sawatski, HR
Wes Covington had three hits and homered along with Carl Sawatski among Milwaukee's 11 hits, but Hank Aaron was 0-for-5, ending his hit streak at 15 games and shoving him behind Stan Musial in the bat race, 344 to 343.

The Giants made it behind Willie Mays, who junked a 3-2 Cub lead with his 16th homer and third in three games—a two-run job in the third. Don Mueller also homered for the Giants as Johnny Antonelli won his ninth with relief help.

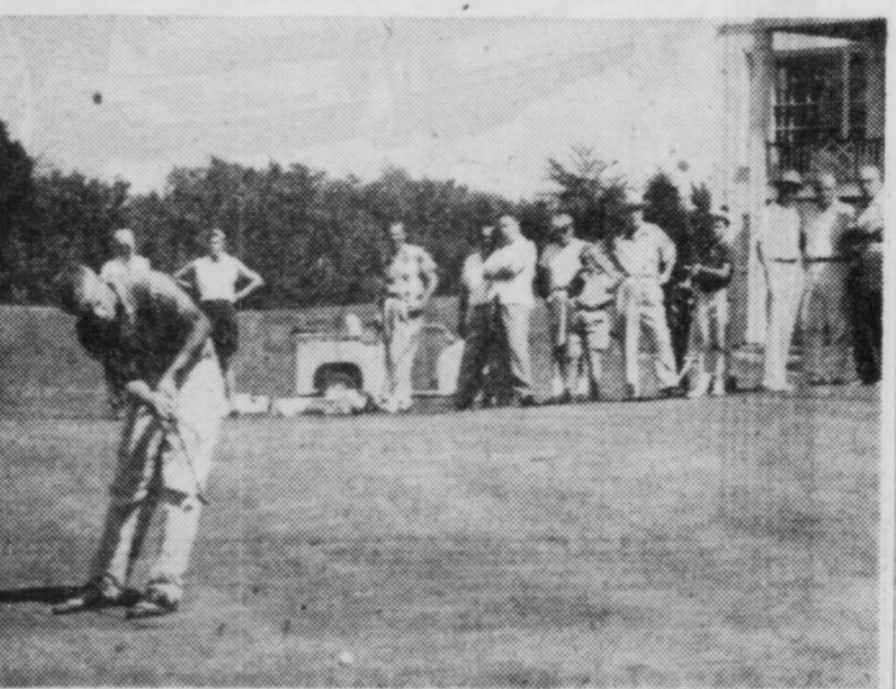

Winner Russ Kemmerer and Lou Berberet hit two-run homers and Faye Throneberry connected for a solo shot for the Senators, who were out-hit 12-11. Wally Burnette lost it, but Hec Lopez extended his hitting streak to 22 games with a double and two singles.

If you were wondering about the Pittsburgh Pirates in that first place quiz, forget about it. They were in a four-way tie opening day.

Twenty Strikeouts, Two HRs in Inning, All in One Contest

George Jackson struck out 20 batsmen and Fred Tetta clouted two home runs in one inning as Samsonville drubbed Ulster Heights, 16-1, for its ninth straight victory.

Jackson permitted only one hit. The Samsonville team which claims the unofficial Town of Olive championship invites interested local teams to contact Clayton Barringer of Krumville for games. The team is scheduled to play at Napanoch Prison in the near future.

A CRUCIAL PUTT—Jerry Sedlik of Binghamton, who tied for first place in the senior division of the state Elks championships yesterday, misses crucial putt on 18th green. That left him in a tie with John O'Connor of Troy at 76. O'Connor won the playoff on the first extra hole.

Kaye-Lacey to Defend

New Paltz Teachers College Sets Clay Court Net Tourney

Preparations are well under way for the Ulster County Clay Court tennis tournament which will be held on the courts of the State University Teachers College, New Paltz, beginning Saturday, August 3.

Marty Kaye and Ed Lacy of Kingston, last year's doubles champions, are expected to defend their title.

Dr. Charles P. Wolbers, coordinator of health and physical education at the College said that this year's competition would include both singles and doubles tournaments and that the singles tournaments would be divided into two classifications. One will be the novice class for inexperienced players, and the second will be an open classification.

Both Singles and Doubles

Dr. Wolbers explained that the tournament that was first held in New Paltz last year included only doubles competition. "This year," he said, "the addition of modern lighting equipment installed on the courts will allow time for both singles and doubles competition." He further pointed out that the scheduling of night matches would enable many more persons to participate.

All persons interested in entering the tournament are asked to send their entries to Dr. Charles Wolbers, State University Teachers College, New Paltz, and each entry should include the following information:

Frank Boyce Hurls Shutout for Hilltop

The league-leading Pat & George squad nipped Subway Grill, 4-3, Monday for its 12th victory in 17 City Softball League starts.

Frank Boyce, of Hilltop Rest pitched a three-hitter and struck out 12 to blank Chez Emile, 12-0, in another contest on the abbreviated schedule. Other games were postponed because of vacation schedules at industrial plants.

P&G was limited to four hits by Pete Kelderhouse but clicked for three runs in the first inning. The losers picked up 10 off Harry Passante, including two each by Bob Schatzel and Dick Bezemmer. Frank Coulard rapped a pair of doubles and Don Jayne hit one for P&G.

Boyce excels was the all-around star for Hilltop. Limiting the Chezies to a pair of singles and a double by Ben Freer, his mound rival, the Hilltop ace stroked a single and two doubles for the winners. J. Primo equalled the stint.

Hobie Armstrong, who can play almost anywhere on the diamond and play it well, took his turn on the mound last night and the results was a handsome three-hit shutout and 15 strikeouts as the Kiwanis handed the Volunteer Firemen their first loss in the Babe Ruth League, 4-0.

Armstrong had to go plenty, though to outlead his adversary, Chick Boice, who fired a strong four hitter and also whiffed 15. As might be guessed, Hobie caused Boice the most trouble, getting three hits.

The victory was the Kiwanis third in five decisions. The Vols had won five straight before running into Armstrong.

Joe Venuti checked Wimp's Grill with three hits as Prospect Dairy collected 10 off W. Ruth and Jake Smith for a 7-3 victory. Benicase, Fred Orr and L. Bechtold each had two hits for Prospect Dairy. R. Brandt rapped a single and double for the losers.

Churchill Slams Brooks Rip HLL Tigers

Despite a grand slam homer by Bobby Churchill, the Dodgers whipped the Tigers, 22-6, in the Hurley Little League yesterday.

Churchill also slammed a triple, but Bill Beutel, who was making his pitching debut, had plenty of cushion to coast to a three-hit victory.

Russ Johnston went 4-for-4 including a double to pace 21-hit assault of winners. Vince Crantz, Beutel and Mike Morris got three hits. Morris, Mickey Canning, Crantz, Johnston and Ken Beesmer doubled.

Beutel struck out nine and lost Morris 2. Both hurlers walked seven.

Conferences Are Progressing in Cement Strike

No material changes have developed in the cement strike in New York state but conferences are in progress between management and labor, it was reported today.

A conference Monday afternoon with North American Portland at the Hotel Saulpaugh, Catskill, was adjourned "subject to recall," a spokesman for the State Mediation Board told The Freeman.

A second conference with Alpa Portland is scheduled for this afternoon, also at Hotel Saulpaugh, and a third on Friday with Lehigh. The Friday meeting is also at the Saulpaugh.

Proponents say a county president would help bring about more efficiency and less waste. Opponents reply that Broome county has done well under the present arrangement.

The bulk of New York's counties, like Broome, are governed by boards of supervisors, with legislative and executive power combined in the one body.

Forms Are Listed

Alfred W. Haight, counsel to Comptroller Arthur Levitt, says no county has adopted any of the forms under the 1953 law. He listed them as follows:

1. County Administrator—A county resident appointed by a two-thirds vote of the board of supervisors, serving the same term as the board and removable by the board.

County Manager—Appointed and removed by a simple majority of the board. He need not be a county resident when chosen. He appoints and removes every non-elected administrative officer except the county comptroller.

The comptroller, a newly established post, is named by the board. The posts of county treasurer and highway superintendent would be abolished. No supervisor may be chosen manager.

3. County Director—Same as county manager, but his term is set at four years and he may be removed only by a two-thirds vote. Supervisors are eligible.

4. County President—A county resident elected by voters for a four-year term. He may veto acts of the supervisors but they may override with a two-thirds majority.

Tea's Flavor

The flavor of tea comes from curling and the essential oil in the leaves. Its stimulating quality comes from a small percentage of them, which is chemically the same as the caffeine in coffee.

BOILED FRANKFURTERS—Without the help of a diving rod, one expert has found water, strange as it seems, in a Frankfurt, Germany, swimming pool packed with boiled frankfurters. The expert, whose leg can be seen jutting from water at lower right, was just one of thousands in the area seeking relief from the oppressive heat.

Three Trains Collide In Grand Central

New York, July 16 (AP)—

Three trains collided in Grand Central Terminal, injuring a score of passengers and delaying an estimated 20,000 commuters during the rush hour late yesterday.

Although many passengers were thrown off their feet, only one was treated at a hospital. The others injured, suffering mostly minor cuts and bruises, were treated at the terminal first aid room and sent home.

Thousands of persons milled around the terminal as 24 New York Central railroad and 9 New Haven railroad trains were delayed up to an hour.

Two Youths Hurt When Car Strikes Rail, Turns Over

Two teen-age Kingston youths suffered minor injuries late Monday night when their car struck guard rails on Route 28 at the Sunset Drive-In Theatre and turned over several times, coming to rest on its top.

One of them, Charles Eastment, 17, of 116 Pearl street, was reportedly thrown from the vehicle into a field. He was treated at Benedictine Hospital for abrasions of both knees and lacerations of the right elbow and forehead and discharged.

Stephen Gregory Thomas, 19, of 3 Groff street, owner and operator of the 1955 sedan in which Eastment was a passenger, suffered a laceration of the eyebrow and scalp abrasions. He was reported "fairly good" at Kingston Hospital today.

Thomas may be able to leave the hospital today. The mishap was investigated by the Ulster county sheriff's office and Kingston state police who reported that the vehicle proceeding toward Kingston, struck guard rails near the entrance of the Sunset Drive-In, knocking down seven of the posts and continuing for some 85 yards, turning over several times and coming to rest on its top.

Trooper David Waechter reported that the driver told him he heard a noise like a blowout just before the car struck the guard rails. "Before he knew it, the car was on its top."

Deputy Sheriff's Delbert Sapp and Frank Crnkovic, Jr., investigated for the sheriff's office.

Congressional Action

Washington, D. C. (AP)—The Methodist Board of Temperance charges that liquor advertisers are spending more than 400 million dollars a year to "brainwash the American public" into thinking drinking does no harm. The Rev. Dr. Caradine R. Hooton, general secretary of the board's national headquarters here, urged congressional action on pending bills to curb "this disgraceful expenditure" by banning interstate alcohol advertising and regulate billboard advertising on federal highways.

Humphrey Urges

gator Harold E. Stassen asked the UN Disarmament subcommittee yesterday to show patience and persistence in trying to reach a partial disarmament treaty.

Moved by Russian attacks on the lack of progress and reports that an early recess might be called, Stassen insisted that a first step treaty was in sight.

Humphrey backed Stassen's attempt to keep the London talks going if possible, but said "I cannot help believe the problem has gone beyond normal diplomacy."

If the disarmament negotiations fail, Humphrey declared, "The President should go before the UN and lay out, in his own way and own manner, an appeal over the heads of the Soviet Union and the subcommittee."

"The President is, in the minds of millions of people, a man of peace," the senator continued. "He ought to appeal to every nation and every leader to support disarmament proposals that are clear, sound and acceptable."

Humphrey said some of this leadership may have been lost temporarily by "emphasis by the President on efforts to produce a clean H-bomb."

"That may be all right for the scientific mind," he said, "but it doesn't reduce the fears of the world over nuclear warfare."

"The President will have to make the American position crystal clear not only to the Soviet Union but to all other countries."

PAINTED WITH SAND—Yves M. Offret, Provo Canyon, Utah, displays two samples of his sand art which he "painted" using the colorful sands of his native Utah. Flat, non-removable sandpaintings are common in Paris, but Offret, a 74-year-old resort manager, claims that his sand pictures are the only ones which can be turned upside down without getting out of shape. After constructing a simple natural wood frame with double glass spaced about two inches apart, Offret carefully makes the picture from the bottom up, using colored sand and following up gradually with plain sand for support until frame is full and then sealed. Everything must be kept completely dry throughout the "painting" operation. The "painting" at left is "The Delicate Arch," South Utah; the one at right, "The Great White Throne," Zion National Park, Utah.

Ike Stands . . .

any vote of approval given Knowland's motion.

After Morse has completed an explanation, leaders would be in a position to shut off any lengthy talk with a motion to table (kill) the Morse motion.

Knowland, commanding a coalition of Republicans and northern Democrats who expect to pass a civil rights bill, said he recognizes the House measure may need some "clarifying" amendments.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) has raised the specter of "bayonet rule" enforcement of all civil rights under one provision of the bill. Knowland said this provision may need "clarifying."

Explains About Troops
"It was never intended or implied that federal troops would be used to enforce civil rights under this bill," he said.

Russell has picked up support from Sens. Anderson (D-N.M.), Mundt (R-S.D.) and others for limiting application of the measure to cases involving voting rights.

Knowland declined to be tied down to any such narrowed application of the measure, despite Eisenhower's statement that his primary objective in asking Congress to act was to protect voting rights.

Russell told reporters the Senate can get to work on proposed amendments as soon as it votes on the Knowland and Morse motions. He said there will be no filibustering while the amending process is under way.

Speeches to Point
"We are going to stick to our knitting on these amendments," he said. "The speeches by our group will be to the point and not unnecessarily long."

While some southerners took the view that they might be better off to let a watered down version of the bill pass without a filibuster, some were holding out for last-ditch efforts to prevent a final vote on any measure.

Among the latter, Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said he will fight against passage of any bill, no matter how it is amended.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich.), one of the bill's supporters, said he doesn't believe it possible to get the necessary 64 affirmative votes to limit debate on the House measure as it stands.

He said he favors around-the-clock sessions to pass such a measure, and expressed a belief the filibusters thus could be exhausted physically.

Boy Missing From Bungalow Colony

A 15-year-old New York city youth who disappeared from the Shangri La Bungalows, Ulsterville road, Pine Bush, at 3 p. m. Monday, was still missing this morning.

The boy, Arthur Allen Hofmeister, was reported missing by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hofmeister of 324 East 21st street, New York city.

The Hofmeister family had arrived at the bungalow colony on Monday. According to Ellenville state police, who have search parties out in the area, the boy told his parents he was going down to take a look at the lake. This was the last they saw of him.

Troopers and volunteers have been searching the wooded section in the vicinity. No dragging operations had been started in the lake late this morning.

The youth is described as 5 feet 3 inches tall, weighing 120 pounds, light brown hair and brown eyes with a mastoid scar behind his left ear. He was wearing a striped tan T-shirt, blue pants, blue cap and black sneakers when last seen.

Add something crisp to that fish platter: Cucumbers, celery, radishes, pickles are all good choices.
